SCORES OF SPLENDID CALIFORNIA HOMES IN THE PATH OF FIRE

Fire Fighters Rushed to Blaze Starting in Canyon Between Glendale and Burbank; Is Racing Towards Country Club and Residential District

Glendale, Cal., Sept. 28—A brush fire which began in the Verdugo Hills this morning reached alarming proportions soon after noon when it jumped a fire break and raced down Sunset Canyon, endangering scores of fine homes. Three hundred men, many from the First National Studios, of Burbank, were fighting the flames. The fire began in a small canyon between here and Burbank, spreading eastward into the area back of the Sunset Canyon Country Club. About 150 homes in Sunset Canyon will be in peril if the fire is not stopped soon, while ten others in Deer Canyon, a branch of the Sunset Canyon, were believed in immediate danger.

Five hundred acres had been burned over.

FRENCH CANADIANS APPRECIATE REPORT

Ask Co-operation For Fair Trial of Bilingual School Recommendation

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—In a statement addressed to the French-speaking population of Ontario, the French Canadian Educational Association of this province to-day expressed appreciation of the report submitted to the Government by the committee inquiring into bilingual schools. It endorsed the action of Premier Ferguson in accepting the report. It asked the French-Canadians to co-operate "in the application of the sane pedagogical principles contained in the report."

Referring to proposed governing bodies for bilingual schools composed of the chief inspector of the province, two directors and the local inspector, the statement said the Board of Inquiry had placed in the hands of this committee the fate of these schools. It was probably the best thing that could be done under these circumstances.

"According to the interpretation given, from it may result the most beneficient or the most evil effects," the statement added. "Hence, before giving final judgment, we must wait and see how the governing committee will interpret and apply those principles laid down by the Board of Inquiry. We hasten to add that the general tenor of the report enables us to hope that nothing in the interpretation and application of the pedagical principles expressed therein will hinder its good effect."

GREAT FUTURE FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA

Faith Can Make it One of World's Greatest Countries, Says Halifax Senator

New Westminster, Sept. 28.—Faith of Canadians in the Dominion would go far toward making Canada as thickly populated as the United States within a few decades, was the assertion of Senator Charles E. Tanner, Halifax, N.S., addressing Kiwanians here yesterday.

Since his arrival in the West he said he had been impressed with the bigness of everything.

With all the resources of British Columbia, only one thing was wanted to make it one of the greatest countries of the world, he said. This was complete faith in its possibilities.

BULGARIAN REBELS' PLANS FRUSTRATED

Band Sought to Start Trouble With Greece and Jugoslavia

Athens, Sept. 28.—The Greco-Bulgarian frontier has been closed as a result of information received by the authorities at Saloniki, that bands of Bulgarian irregulars were preparing to enter Greece with the alleged purpose of stirring up trouble with Greece and Jugoslavia.

Two men, said to be irregulars, were arrested to-day and time bombs were found in their baggage at their hotel.

Another man, named Coulelis was arrested, charged with carrying bombs and revolvers. The authorities declare that he admitted that the irregulars also were prepared to destroy Greek consulates in Belgrade and other Jugoslavian towns in the hope of straining Greco-Jugoslav relations.

$350,000 ISSUE FOR LOCAL PLANT OVERSUBSCRIBED

Financing Provides For Sidney Roofing Expansion and Pulp Plant

One of the biggest local financial undertakings was completed to-day, when H. E. Boorman of the B.C. Bond Corporation announced that the issue of $350,000 preferred stock to refinance and expand an important local industry, the Sidney Roofing and Paper Company, had been heavily over-subscribed. The company is operating a large pulp plant here, as an addition to its other productions.

So keen has been the demand for the securities of the local industry, which has made such a satisfactory showing, and which is whipping its products to the distant markets of the world, that the whole block of securities has been taken up already, although the date set for putting out the issue was not until October 1.

A little of the issue went to Vancouver, but the bulk of it was taken by Victoria investors. Vancouver bid for more of the issue, but the order could not be filled.

"The stock has been so rapidly taken up that the circulars we had intended sending out are not printed yet, and no advertisements have yet appeared in the papers," Mr. Boorman said.

"Not everybody here knows that the plant on the Songhees Industrial Reserve works day and night, turning rags, paper and plup into building and roofing papers, shipping its products regularly to Winnipeg, Australia and New Zealand. Every large building erected in Vancouver last year used Sidco products manufactured in Victoria.

"The success of this industry makes us feel that there is now around Victoria far better understanding and more faith in our ability to manufacture in competition with outsiders."

As a result of the over-subscription for the preferred stock, the issue will at once go to a premium, just as did the B.C. Telephone and B.C. Electric preferred stock issues, which were put out locally, it was explained.

REALTORS ATTACK UNFAIR TAXATION

Property Owners Must Co-operate to Overcome Wrong, is Opinion

Claming that the land owner had borne the burden of taxation in Victoria long enough, ex-Alderman David Leeming rose at the meeting of the Real Estate Board to-day, and said that conditions here were rapidly approaching a state of communism.

The property owner had paid unreasonably, he said, and the problem to be faced was very grave.

James Forman suggested that Mr. Leeming go into this matter more fully and bring forward a paper on the subject of taxation.

A. R. Wolfenden, president of the board, declared that the land owner paid for the things which some more fortunate persons enjoyed.

"It's communism," interjected Beaumont Boggs.

Mr. Leeming was on his feet again. Why, he asked, should the property owner pay for fire and police protection of big store owners? Why, in the case of a fire, when the stock damaged might amount to thousands, and the property loss only a few dollars, should the expense of protection be upon the owner of land? Mr. Leeming maintained with some heat that land owners had been taxed and were being taxed at a rate under which they could not survive.

SHOULD FIX MAXIMUM

Alderman H. C. Holmes approached the question coolly. The school problem was one of the biggest, he pointed out. The Mayor should sit on the school board just as he did on the police commission. There should be a fixed monimum on land taxes, but there was no use talking unless the projectors of such a scheme would go out and fight for it. He told of a pathetic incident of an old lady who was losing her land because she was being taxed on a totally unfair assessment basis. There was grossly excessive taxation in places, said Alderman Holmes.

"If you are satisfied with the present condition, alright," said the alderman. "But if you want redress go to the Court of Revision and fight for it."

Land owners should co-operate, agree on standards and rates of rents and struggle for what they considered fair.

NELSON POLL APPEARS NOT FAR OFF NOW

Liberals' Decision to Nominate Makes Election in October Likely

Expect Date to be Fixed When Premier Returns Here at Week-end

The beating of political drums in Nelson during the last twenty-four hours was accepted here as a pretty positive indication that the electors of the Interior riding will go to the polls soon to elect a successor in the Legislature to the late Premier Oliver.

That the poll will be held some time in October was considered probable, following the announcement that Nelson Liberals would hold a nominating convention to-morrow night. The vote is not expected to be far behind this preliminary.

PREMIER IN NELSON

The presence of Premier MacLean in Nelson this week, and the fact that he conferred with Liberal leaders there adds significance to the announcement that Liberals of the riding will not delay their nominating convention longer.

The date of the poll will be fixed when the Premier returns here towards the end of the week to confer with his Cabinet colleagues, it is expected. As Dr. MacLean must leave here in the latter part of October for the Interprovincial Conference in Ottawa the election probably will take place about the middle of next month if, as seems likely, it is held before the Premier's departure.

CHIEF FEATURES OF AUSTRALIAN BUDGET

Include $100,000,000 For Scheme to Help Home Building

Melbourne, Sept. 28 (Vancouver Province Cable)—Naval construction and defence of the empire will be subsidized to the extent of $10,000,000; civil aviation will benefit by $1,000,000; land and income taxes will be reduced by ten per cent. It is proposed to allot a sum of $100,000,000 for a scheme to enable the people to buy their own homes. These are the principal features of the budget for the financial year, which discloses a surplus to the Commonwealth treasury of $13,000,000 which is $12,000 000 ahead of the anticipated surplus

The Australian war debt, which at the commencement of the year stood at $1,520,000,000, was reduced during the year $38,000,000. The profit of the Commonwealth Bank during the year was $2,500 000.

VANCOUVER SPEEDS UP PLANS FOR PICTURES

Film Company Finances to Start Production Earlier

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—In order to begin actual motion picture production in Vancouver at least six months earlier than originally intended, directors of the Lions Gate Cinema Studios Limited, at a meeting Tuesday, tentatively approved a reduction in capitalization from $5,000,000 to $1,000,000 in preferred stock, and from 500,000 to 200,000 shares of common stock.

The board also approved, according to Mr. Ryder, a very considerable reduction in the promoters' share of common stock. The financial structure of the company now embraces the issuance of 100,000 shares of preferred stock at $10 par, with 200,000 shares of common stock at no par value, the latter to be distributed in the best manner for promoting the interests of the shareholders.

MAY CO-OPERATE ON GREAT LAKES PLAN

Mackenzie King Expected to Head Commission to U.S.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Co-operation of Premier Mackenzie King's Government with the United States for the projection of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterways was predicted to-day by W. L. Harding, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association, after a call upon President Coolidge. He said he had "heard rumors" that the Premier intended to head a commission to seek an agreement with the United States and he believed these to be true.

ENGINE TROUBLE DELAYED FLYER

Koennecke's Plane Takes Off After Repairs in Syria

Beirut, Syria, Sept. 28.—The mystery that surrounded the whereabouts of Lieut. Otto Koennecke and the Germania after his hop-off from Angora, Turkey, on Saturday, in continuation of his flight to the United States by way of the Orient, was cleared up today by news that his plane came down because of engine trouble near Moslemiyeh, north of Aleppo.

After repairs by members of the French air force in Syria, the plane took off again yesterday at 7 a.m. He is now at Bagdad, Irak.

EVANGELINE BOOTH SEES ENGLAND DRY

Could Bring Prohibition With Lady Astor's Help, She Says

London, Sept. 28.—Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army, to whom a welcoming reception will be given in a big London hall to-night, is convinced that prohibition is a big possibility for England.

"If I were over here and had the help of Lady Astor, we could bring prohibition into England in no time," she said in an interview to-day.

The commander, who is making her first visit here since 1920, talked strongly on the benefits which she said prohibition had brought to the United States.

"I would say to every country, if you want to be rich, introduce prohibition and banish drunkenness and inefficiency."

Fall Grain Rush Starts in Earnest

VANCOUVER POLICEMEN EXONERATED

Charges Not Supported by Evidence, Commissioners Find

Detective of Morality Squad Cleared of Bribery Accusation

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—Charges against Sergeant-Detective George McLaughlin and Detective D. A. McGregor of the morality squad were not supported and the Vancouver police officers are completely exonerated.

This was announced by the police commission after a secret session this morning. The commissioners' finding was handed out in a three-page document signed by the three commissioners, Mayor Louis D. Taylor, Alderman J. A. Garbutt and T. W. Fletcher.

"We find that the charges not supported by evidence and that testimony given in support of the accusations was of such a character as to be wholly unconvincing.

INSUPPORTABLE

"It was further met by a preponderance of evidence including documents and official records of the police in opposition to the charges which rendered the accusations insupportable," the statement said.

In explaining their action in refusing to allow public hearings, the commissioners stated that it was thought "no good purpose would be served by having public sessions, as much of the testimony was unfit for publication."

Charges against the officers, the report stated, were made by Frank Cascia, self-admitted keeper of a house of ill-fame.

BRIBERY ALLEGED

The specific charges alleged that certain sums of money had been paid over monthly to the officers for alleged protection of the disorderly house, the report added.

Evidence offered in defence of the officers, the statement declared, showed that the place had been raided thirty-four times by police, resulting in fines and forfeited bail amounting to $4,250 covering the period of time in which the informant was tenant.

Miller was officially declared winner of the first prize of $1,000 in class B. race.

Singer and Husband Help Direct Firemen in Catskill Mountains

Margaretville, N.Y., Sept. 28—Sul Monte, Summer home of Amelita Galli-Curci, noted singer, and one of the showplaces of the Catskills, was damaged by fire last night. The loss was estimated at approximately $10,000. Galli-Curci and her husband helped direct the village firemen and neighbors in fighting the fire. The building, atop one of the highest mountains in the Catskills, was built in 1922 at a cost of approximately $250,000.

Aviators Survey Vancouver For Possible Airport Site

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—Flight-Lieut. A. T. Cowley, controller of civil aviation in Canada, and Major D. R. Maclaren, president of the Air Force Club of British Columbia, started a general survey of Greater Vancouver this morning in an effort to find the best possible site for an airport. The visit of Capt. Cowley to Vancouver was made in the course of a tour of Canada during which he is inspecting sites for municipal airports. The tour was undertaken because so many requests for advice were received by the Department at Ottawa.

MALAHAT WILL BE CLOSED ONE WEEK AFTER OCTOBER 5

Closing of the Malahat Highway for one week commencing October 5 was ordered by the Public Works Department to-day to protect traffic during intensive blasting operations along the road. During this week cars can go north as far as Goldstream Flats and as far south as the Seventeen-mile Post. Up-Island traffic will use the Mill Bay ferry so as to avoid the blasting area altogether. Drivers who wish to reach parts of the Malahat north of the Seventeen-mile Post will cross Saanich Arm by the ferry and will be allowed to drive south to that point. As small a portion of the road as possible is being closed for the protection of the traveling public in the big scheme of rebuilding and widening now under way.

35,000,000 BUSHELS MANITOBA'S YIELD

Ninety-nine Per Cent of Wheat in; Half Threshing Done

Winnipeg, Sept. 28.—A wheat yield of 35,000,000 bushels is forecast for the Province of Manitoba by the Provincial Department of Agriculture in its report issued to-day.

More than ninety-nine per cent. of the crop is cut, the report states, and about one-half of the threshing is done.

The oat crop of the province is declared to be very disappointing, as from late in July the crop has been rusty and the grain so light that thousands of fields never will be threshed.

Barley is said to be the most satisfactory all-round crop of any of the cereals, with a possible average of twenty-seven bushels to the acre. Rye should turn out close to eighteen bushels.

It is estimated by the department that there will be an average yield of wheat of around the sixteen-bushel mark. This year's wheat acreage is said to be the smallest in the last twenty-five years.

SHOT ENDS LIFE OF INSURANCE MANAGER

Mystery Surrounds Death of Vancouver Man Found This Morning

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—With a bullet wound through the mouth and passing through the top of the head, the dead body of Frederick W. Walker was found this morning at the rear of a house on Seaton Street. While all indications point to suicide, a .38-calibre revolver being found beside the body, the authorities are at a loss to account for the act as no indications of such an inclination can be found.

Mr. Walker was manager here for the Royal Insurance Company and was to leave to-day for a visit to his mother in Montreal.

M. Briand Studies Tariff Question

Paris, Sept. 28.—M. Briand, Foreign Minister, this morning began digging into the Franco-American tariff question, having hurriedly returned from Geneva for that purpose.

Until he has taken the matter up with the cabinet, the notes exchanged between the two countries will be withheld, because it is desired to avoid giving them out in such a way as to create the impression on the public that they were made public simply to show why the two countries are at odds on the question.

MINISTER PRESENTS WAGE SUGGESTIONS

Canadian Railroad Workers Agree to Consider Proposals

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Suggestions made by Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, as a basis of settlement of the wage dispute between the Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railways, and 7,000 locomotive engineers in their employ will be considered by the railway companies and the men. This is the agreement arrived at as a result of a lengthy conference between representatives of the men and Minister of Labor.

The nature of the suggestions, it was stated, could not be made public.

It is possible that a further conference will be held at a later date between both sides in the dispute.

Pending a settlement, no steps will be taken to appoint a board of conciliation to adjust the differences. The engineers are asking for a fifteen per cent increase in wages.

NEW BONDS SELL FOR BEST PRICE IN FORTY YEARS

Tenders From Thirty Firms in Canada and United States on $6,000,000 Loan Indicate Striking Confidence in Financial Administration of Province; Bids on Long-term Securities as High as Those Received by Canadian National Railways

Credit of British Columbia under the MacLean Government reached a new peak to-day when provincial bonds to the amount of $6,000,000 were sold at an average yield of 4.62½ per cent. This is the lowest interest rate that British Columbia has paid on a loan since 1889, and indicates that financial men all over the continent, who bid on the new bonds, are more impressed than ever with the soundness of provincial finances.

MANY TENDERS RECEIVED

Tenders on the new $6,000,000 loan were received from thirty powerful financial organizations in Canada and the United States, the Government's first entry into the finanical markets this year having attracted continent-wide attention. A syndicate composed of A. E. Ames & Company, Wood, Gundy & Company, and the Royal Bank were the successful tenderers. The proceeds of the bonds sold to this syndicate will be divided equally between refunding and the financing of new provincial buildings and roads.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Acting Premier, opened tenders at noon to-day. He and other members of the Cabinet were highly gratified with the value which bond houses placed on the new issue. The prices paid were taken as indicating the high opinion which financiers hold not only in regard to the financial administration of the Government, but also of the Province's business growth in the last year. The last issue of bonds by the Province, floated in 1926, brought a price of 4.78, over which to-day's figures were a big advance. The fact that on a long-term issue the Province received a price equal to that obtained by the Canadian National Railways for its bonds some months ago was regarded as particularly significant.

EXPLAINS SALE

Details of the new bond sale were explained in a statement issued by the Finance Department this afternoon as follows:

"Tenders were opened to-day for $6,000,000 Province of British Columbia bonds by the Acting Premier, bids being received from five syndicates, representing thirty houses in Canada and the United States, the highest tender being received from a syndicate composed of Messrs. A. E. Ames & Company, Wood, Gundy & Company and the Royal Bank of Canada.

"The accepted bids were 98.86 for two-year 4 per cent bonds, and $97.23 for thirty-year 4½ per cent bonds, the average cost of the money to the Province being 4.62½ per cent.

The bids varied from 95.781, the lowest bid for the thirty-year and from 98.69 for the two-year 4 per cent, and from 99.60 to 99.76 for the two-year 4½ per cent bonds.

"This is the best price the Province has received for its bonds since the sale of its 3 per cent inscribed stock in 1889.

"For the long-term issue, a price equal to that obtained by the Canadian National Railways some months ago was received."

BANKERS' VISIT TO TURN MONEY FLOW THIS WAY

Canada Presents Best Investment Opportunities on Continent, Delegates Say

New Investment Trust Business Shows Rapid Growth, Reports Show

Seattle, Sept. 28.—Interest in Canadian opportunities is one of the dominating features of the convention here of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, with 700 members representing billions of dollars in investment capital.

There is a consciousness that Canada to-day presents the greatest opportunity for the profitable employment of capital on the North American continent.

From what they have seen of British Columbia on their trip through to Vancouver and Victoria last week and what they have learned of the whole Northwest and Puget Sound area since their arrival on the coast, these eastern financial leaders declared that they were willing to turn money into B.C. as readily as they have been turning it into Northern Ontario and Quebec during the last year.

Last year the members of the association went for their convention excursion into the Saguenay-Chicoutimi area of Quebec. Their visit there has resulted in a tremendous impetus to the flow of United States funds into the water-power mineral and timber resources of that part of Canada.

This year's convention excursion this week will be by the steamer Princess Marguerite up the B.C. coast to Ocean Falls, and it is predicted here that it will have as important results to British Columbia as the excursion of last year had to Quebec.

Acreage	58,625

SEARCH ENDS FOR YOUNG MILLIONAIRE

Richard Reynolds Found With Pretty Girl in St. Louis Restaurant

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 28.—The search for Richard J. Reynolds, one of the heirs to the Reynolds tobacco millions ended here last night in a quiet booth of a Grand Avenue restaurant.

Private detectives found Reynolds dining with a pretty young woman companion who later vanished, and with a man who identified himself as Fanshaw Jones.

It was Jones, a racetrack acquaintance of Reynolds, who tipped the Hargrave detective agency to Reynolds's whereabouts. Early in the day Jones offered to produce Reynolds for $5,000. The agency, after getting in touch with the trustee of the Reynolds estate, agreed to pay the money.

The finding of young Reynolds closed a search which had spread from New York to Chicago, St. Louis, Southern Illinois and to Florida.

ASSESSMENT APPEALS IN

Appeals Against Assessment in City Property Show Marked Decline

The City Court of Revision on the assessment roll for 1928 will convene at the City Council chamber at 10 a.m. Saturday, in opening the annual review on assessment appeals. Applications for hearing are fewer this year than ever before in the post-war period, due, it is believed, to the fact that the city has taken the assessment problem in hand by way of a three-year programme of fresh appraisals.

The revision has been carried out in the downtown area, and will be extended month by month to the residential districts of the city, until all property has been included in the scientific and modern method of appraisal now in force.

The changes in the assessment roll for 1928, compared with the 1927 roll prepared in 1926, show a decrease in the net taxable assessment on land, and a considerable increase in the value of improvements, due to a remarkably active building programme. Exemptions, under Government ownership and other heads, total approximately $17,500,000. The tax rate is applied on the value of the land and on half of the value of improvements.

ROADS CONVENTION TO OPEN TUESDAY

Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario to Deliver Address of Welcome

Niagara Fall, Sept. 28.—Hon. W. D. Ross, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, will officially open the fourteenth annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association at the Clifton Hotel, Niagara Falls, Ont., at 10 a.m. on Tuesday next. In making this announcement here to-day, George A. McNamee, secretary-treasurer of the association, stated that a larger registration than has been recorded at any previous convention seems assured, judging by the requests from convention delegates for hotel reservations, more than 500 having been already received. In addition to the official address of welcome by the Lieut.-Governor, there will be addresses by Mayor Stephens of Niagara Falls, by Hon. G. S. Henry, Minister of Highways for Ontario, in his capacity as president of the association, and by other provincial Cabinet Ministers who occupy places on the association's directorate. Representation from every province has been promised, while road experts from the states of New York, Michigan, Ohio and Maine have also accepted invitations to attend and take part in the programme.

NEXT CONVENTION

Keen competition for the convention of 1928 is expected, as invitations are to be extended from St. John, N.B., Regina, Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and Windsor. Should the Regina invitation be accepted, Saskatchewan will be the eighth of the nine provinces of Canada to be host to the association in its annual deliberations, as one or more conventions have been held in each of the other provinces with the exception of Prince Edward Island, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton have each been chosen twice for previous conventions, but Windsor, Regina and St. John are new aspirants. The scene of the New Brunswick convention of 1924 was St. Andrews-by-the-Sea.

A comprehensive programme dealing with all phases of highway planning, financing, construction, maintenance and use has been prepared, with acknowledged authorities presenting papers embodying their theories and experiences. In order to make the proceedings as interesting as possible to all the delegates, the time allotted to discussion of each address is twice as long as that allowed the speaker who delivers it. Safety on the highway will be one of the subjects which will be given a foremost place, although great interest has been created by the announcement that for the first time in any national convention in Canada the topic of airports will be given consideration.

Business sessions will be held Tuesday morning and afternoon, Wednesday morning and afternoon and Thursday morning. The annual dinner on Wednesday evening, visits to scenic points, inspection of hydro-electric plants and the new Welland canal, a trip over typical examples of Ontario's highway system and other outings combining recreational and educational features will take up the remainder of the three-day gathering.

BAY ST. MAN SAYS HUSKY DID GREAT THINGS FOR HIM

Couldn't Hold Food on Stomach, Was Constipated, Hardly Able to Work; Husky Puts Him on His Feet

Fine tributes, such as could only be offered by truly grateful people, are being paid Husky, the great herb preparation, now distributed by the MacFarlane Drug Co. These words of praise can only be appreciated when you talk with the men and women who through its use have been relieved of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel ailments and their accompanying ills, and as headaches, dizzy spells, indigestion, was and sour stomach, constipation, rheumatic pains, nervousness, unsound sleep or weak, listless feelings. One of the many cases which illustrate the fine work being done by Husky is that of Mr. H. G. Andrews, 1430 Bay Street, who tells of his experience as follows:

"Before I started the Husky treatment I had indigestion in the worst form," said Mr. Andrews. "I couldn't hold food on my stomach. If I did retain anything it caused me pain and didn't seem to digest. Gas would form in my stomach, and then the suffering would start. I was also constipated, and I am telling you that I was feeling so bad most of the time that I was hardly able to do my work. Some days I felt like I wouldn't last 'til night.

"You will realize that I am grateful to Husky when I tell you that this medicine has relieved me of suffering and made me feel so much better that I no longer get that all-gone feeling while at my work. My food is digesting and the constipation is gone completely. I am eating good meals and getting strength from them, thanks to Husky."

Telegraph Briefs

London, Sept. 28. — Another world record has fallen. Madame Vera Nemchinova, a ballet dancer, unassisted, spun around forty times on one toe without touching the other foot on the floor, beating her previous march of thirty-eight, which she said was the world record. No other ballerina has ever spun more than thirty-two times, she claims.

A YOUNG LATE HIGHWAYMAN

Summit, N.J., Sept. 28.—A certain young highwayman, who apparently knows how it is when one is late for an appointment with a young woman, gave Theodore Stiles a revolver bullet as a material proof of his unavoidable detention after he had made Stiles drive to the outskirts of the town where he robbed him of $5.

LEOPARD IN CHARGE

Karlsruhe, Germany, Sept. 28.—Many would-be passengers missed their trains at Karlsruhe rather than risk an encounter with a large leopard which took possession of the station approach and wandered into the ticket office and about the platform. The leopard had escaped from the zoo. One of several workmen in the station yard kept the animal at bay in a corner with a shovel until keepers arrived and shoved the leopard into a cage.

SEEING THE WORLD

New York, Sept. 28.—Two Russian peasants, who never before had been fifty miles from their homes, have arrived in this country to escort to Russia 2,700 thoroughbred sheep bought in Utah, Montana, Oregon and Ohio. The men were selected from thousands of shepherd candidates.

ENTHUSIASM WANED

New Brunswick, N.J., Sept. 28.—Mrs. Laura Garribaldi is struggling with a war debt problem all her own. Ten years ago she pledged herself to celebrate Santa Maria Day with a block party each year if her son came back from the war. The son came back and the party has been an annual event in East 105th Street with the neighbors liberally contributing to the expense. This year, however, they ignored the event and Mrs. Garribaldi finds herself $1,500 in debt.

BLAMED FOR TEN MURDERS

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 28.—Ten unsolved murders in St. Paul in the past eighteen months were laid to James Barrett, recently slain gun man, in a statement to the police yesterday by the gunman's confessed slayer. Brought here from Chicago, where he was arrested last week, Art "Wicky" Hanson told police he killed Barrett in self-defence after the latter had murdered Mrs. Barrett and her sister, Lillian Kooser, the night of August 9. Three other women and three men were slain by Barrett, Hanson said, to make sure they would not disclose his criminal activities, and two policemen were killed in February, 1926, "because Barrett had trouble with them over a liquor deal."

Metchosin

The Metchosin branch of the W.A. held a meeting at St. Mary's Vicarage, Metchosin.

Mrs. A. D. Elwood reported for her committee, giving a very full and satisfactory report regarding the progress of arrangements for the Harvest Home supper to be held in the Metchosin Hall on October 11. The report was received with satisfaction by the members.

The meeting voted $50 to be paid for their pledge, and arrangements were made for a home cooking sale to be held in November in aid of their funds, which are in need of being supplemented in order to meet the many calls upon them.

Further details in connection with the revival of the annual harvest home supper were discussed and success is anticipated.

Tea, served by Mrs. R. D. Young and Mrs. Fergus Reid, concluded the meeting.

The concert and dance to be held in the Metchosin Hall on Friday, September 30, promises to be a very attractive affair. Arrangements are in the hands of a capable committee, and reports show that a very attractive programme of entertainment has been arranged. Among those taking part in the entertainment are Mrs. Pennington, Mrs. F. A. Pearce and Mrs. A. de B. Taylor, of Sooke, who has promised to bring the Sooke Quartette to help with the programme. Refreshments will be served and Gerald Schofield will supply dance music.

BENNETT DOTY FREE, HOPES TO RETURN

American in French Legion Released on U.S. Veterans Visit to Paris

Paris, Sept. 28—The visit of the American Legion to Paris brought about the pardon to-day of Bennett J. Doty, the American who as Gilbert Clare, served eleven months with the French Foreign Legion, earned two citations in Army orders and then overwhelmed by the Syrian desert, deserted in the Druse country. There he was captured and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment.

Doty, who was first reported to have been sentenced to death in Syria, served a few months in the Damascus citadel, then was transferred to Albertville in Savoie and later in the penal settlement at Clairvaux, Aube, where the announcement of his pardon reached him yesterday.

"I am returning right home to God's country," he said when informed of his release. "I just enlisted because I wanted to fight Mister Abd-El-Krim in Morocco, but they sent me to Syria. I met another one just as good, Sultan Attrache. Well, it is all over. It has been quite an experience."

"I hope my mother in Biloxi, Miss., will feel as good as I do," he added.

"Never no more," were his parting words. "I have had all the experiences I crave. I hope the Legion can take me along home with them."

Doty was gaunt and thin but his spirit was undaunted.

He had served seventeen months of his eight-year sentence, having been arrested in the Druse country and taken to the Damascus citadel early in May, 1926.

While at Albertville he told the Associated Press correspondent who had seen him at Damascus, "I'm simply sewing pants for soldiers. That is the toughest part of my foreign legion experience."

While the Legionnaires were in Paris they appealed to Minister of War Painleve to pardon Doty. He replied "We must do it. He will go free."

Scottish Daughters' Dance—The Esquimalt Scottish Daughters will hold a dance in the Rex Theatre on Friday, September 3, at 8.30. Refreshments will be served and good music provided.

SEAT ON COUNCIL WOULD NOT LEAD CANADA INTO WAR

League is Instrument of Peace, Declares Constitutional Authority

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Although there is some difference of opinion among constitutional authorities in the capital as to the wisdom of Canada accepting a seat on the council of the League of Nations, there has been little doubt expressed that the election would award one of the three vacancies to the Dominion.

On the one hand, complaint is made that by joining the council Canada will be embroiling herself into European politics which may even lead to war entanglements. Reporters propounded this theory to an eminent constitutionalist to-day.

"Ridiculous," he said, "The League of Nations is an instrument of peace. How can Canada do more good than by associating herself with it. That it may lead to war? Nonsense. The great object of the League is to prevent war."

He said he believed Canada would be elected. "And who is better qualified to work for peace than Canada?" he added. "We have lived in peace with our neighbor for a hundred years. There is many a nation in Europe that would like to do the same thing for the next hundred years. Canada will be a power for good in the League and her scope will be extended, her influence greater if she is on the council."

The League of Nations includes fifty-six nations and the constituency of the League is the assembly, which includes all members and the council, which comprises five permanent members and nine non-permanent. There is also a permanent secretariat, a permanent court of international justice and an international labor organization. The present permanent members are the British Empire, France, Germany, Italy and Japan; and the non-permanent are Belgium, Chile, China, Columbia, Czecho-Slovakia, Netherlands, Poland, Roumania and Salvador. Three non-permanent members retire each year, the term of office being three years.

The council may consider any question it desires, but, generally speaking, it meets three times a year and is specially charged with the supervision of mandates, the preparation and plans for the limitation of armaments, the peace treaties entrusted with other duties concerning the government of the Saar territory and of the free city of Dantzig and minorities. These are some of the matters that Canada would have to take into consideration. Already Canada has had two members of the Saar commission at different times, but both have resigned, the real reason being difficulty in keeping peace in the commission and the hard task of reconciling irreconcilables.

In the special duties of the council Canada would be particularly influential with respect to the minorities question. Hon. Raoul Dandurand, speaking recently at the assembly, referred to Canada's minorities and to the two great races living side by side in the same country in harmony. The League has responsibilities in regard to various treaties for the protection of racial, religious and linguistic minorities or danger of violation of the minorities' treaties may be brought before the council.

A great deal of the council's work is in arbitrating of disputes between nations, a recent instance being the Mosul question. The Lausanne conference failed to reach a settlement. The British government brought the matter before the League. Turkey was invited to accept membership for the purposes of the dispute and did so. After hearing the parties the council decided to set up a provisional frontier line and appoint a commission. The council committee appointed were Spain, Sweden and Uruguay which remained in charge of the question until it was settled. The commission consisted of a Swede, a Hungarian and a Belgian. The report was examined by the council and passed to the international court of justice while the council sent an Esthonian general to Mosul to maintain the status quo. Turkey declined to accept the council's conclusion but the parties later reached an agreement.

The council is in reality the League's executive organ and deals with special emergencies and current work throughout the year. It may "deal at its meetings with any matter within the sphere of action of the League or affecting the peace of the world," according to the covenant. Article II of the covenant also says: "Any war or threat of war whether immediately affecting any of the members or not is hereby declared a matter of concern to the whole League, and the League shall take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations. In case any such emergency should arise, the secretary-general shall on the request of any member of the League forthwith summon a meeting of the council."

One of the criticisms made in Ottawa about Canada's aspirations to the council is that it would not be consistent for Canada having declined to ratify Locarno to accept a seat on the executive body of the League. In reply to this one authority makes answer that Canada was in accord with the Imperial conference, but the Dominion did not and would not accord with the method of making the Locarno treaty whereby the Dominion would be committed by an act of the British foreign officials who signed Locarno.

Says Moonshine, Not Sun Spots, Cause of Crime

Washington, D.C., Sept. 28.—Scientists, scholars and others here are aceptical on the theory of the Moscow judge that sun spots make crime.

"That may be so in Russia," said Amos A. Steele, probation officer of the Criminal Courts here, "but in this country, according to my observation, moonshine more than anything else, except narcotics, has increased crime. According to my records criminals are just as active when there are no sun spots."

Dr. L. B. Aldrich of the Smithsonian Institute, says he knows of "no connection between crime and sun spots."

Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth Hospital for the Insane here, says:

"I think that sun spot is a long way to look for crime. Our problem is much closer at hand. I doubt the theory very much."

Nightingale insisted on paying Dyckman $4, which was the price of the shoes, plus interest to date. The debt was settled, after much calculation, with the payment of $40.

FARMERS OF DELTA OPPOSE ORIENTALS

Objections Are Endorsed by New Westminster Board of Trade

Agreements Signed Not to Lease Land to Chinese

New Westminster, Sept. 28.—Efforts of the Delta farmers to eliminate Orientals as agriculturists in British Columbia, were endorsed by the New Westminster Board of Trade following the receipt of a resolution from the Delta Board. The resolution stated that Orientals largely controlled the potato and vegetable markets of the Pacific Coast by unfair methods of competition and that year by year their control of the fruit markets was increasing.

It was stated that the Delta farmers controlling more than ninety per cent of the arable acreage, had signed a five-year agreement not to sell or lease to Orientals. These farmers had organized the Delta Co-operative Growers' Association and their stand had been endorsed by the Surrey Council and also by the Sumas Co-operative Association.

Cigar 37 Years Old To Be Smoked Soon By Kansas City Man

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 28.—And now comes George C. Smeltzer, 4235 Prospect Avenue, with a claim which puts to shame the puerile boastings of owners of ancient motor cars and growers of big peaches, tall corn, and long string beans.

Mr. Smeltzer, piqued by the efforts of the motorists and agriculturists to attain the superlative, recently revealed what he believes are the city's two oldest cigars, one thirty-seven and the other thirty-one years old. He is soon to smoke them.

Both are in good state of preservation, Mr. Smeltzer asserts, and "as good as new. Except for a slight scent of mothballs, which of course is excusable, their aroma is unimpared.

The older of the two was one of a box passed out to guests at the wedding of C. J. Prescott, brother-in-law of Darius A. Brown, former mayor, in 1890. Mr. Smeltzer says its preservation was no reflection on its quality, but the result of a desire to retain some memento of the event.

The younger is from the box distributed by Mr. Smeltzer when his son, D. K. Smeltzer, was born in March, 1894. The box was given to him, Mr. Smeltzer said, by the late Fred Harvey, founder of the chain of restaurants and hotels which bear his name.

He saved one cigar from the box for his son to smoke on his twenty-first birthday. Its prolonged existence is due to the fact the son never learned to smoke.

The Part Played by Invisible Ink, an Annihilating Pencil and Cryptic Painting in the Battle of Wits Back of the Lines.

For use by German spies in Allied countries, an innocent-looking "pencil"—really a most destructive object containing a combustible fluid of tremendous strength was devised.

"The spy may pretend to eat as he strolls along. One bite is enough to break the point of a pencil, which he has previously hidden in a slice of bread. He leaves the bit of bread wherever he is to start a fire—on a pile of cotton, in a factory, on the wharves of a port—then he peacefully strolls off."

THE WARNING WENT UNHEEDED

IF THERE HAD BEEN NO PREVIOUS warning and some strange freak of Nature had been responsible for it, the sad story of the sockeye of the Fraser River which Mr. J. P. Babcock has just repeated again would have come as a severe jolt. But the people of this Province have been told times out of number by this fisheries expert that unless more of these aristocrats of the salmon family could be allowed to reach the spawning grounds of the Upper Fraser system, the annual run would disappear altogether and with it a source of revenue that could be made to produce something like $30,000,000 a year.

Mr. Babcock has just returned from his annual inspection of the spawning grounds and he says his search for sockeye, where millions once spawned, was like looking for a needle in a haystack. In most of the sections above Hell's Gate he neither saw nor heard of a single sockeye this year. This means that there will be "no commercial return four years hence from the sockeye that spawned in the Upper Fraser in August and September this year."

It is common knowledge, of course, that the restoration of the sockeye fishery of the Fraser can only be brought about by co-operation between Canada and the United States. Many efforts have been made to this end; but nothing really effective in the shape of restrictions has been accomplished. The seriousness of Mr. Babcock's most recent discovery, however, may at last be realized and international action taken. Canada twice has appended her signature to a regulating Treaty; but it has fallen by the wayside in the United States Senate. The result we now know.

THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL COMES OUT TO THE WEST

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HIS CAPACITY as a member of the Government of Mr. Mackenzie King, Hon. P. J. Veniot, Canada's able and energetic Postmaster-General, is on his way to the Pacific Coast on a tour of inspection of the operations of the important Department over which he presides. At each point at which he has called he has been able to give an encouraging report of Post Office business in recent months. For instance, he informed a Winnipeg audience that he expected the increase for the first five months of the present fiscal year over the corresponding period of 1926 to amount to very nearly one million dollars—no mean accomplishment in view of the reduced postal rates.

Mr. Veniot's stay in Winnipeg, however, has been marked by the presentation of an extraordinary request by the postal workers of that city. They have asked him to have a Royal Commission appointed for the purpose of investigating certain charges which they have brought against Postmaster Bower. In the memorial now in the hands of the Minister it is declared that they have been "skimped" on their clothing and equipment, that they have been overworked as a result of his failure to employ a sufficient number of workers, that they have been denied increases in pay and the promotion to which they were entitled, that the Winnipeg Post Office is not healthful, and that the Postmaster has declined to have improvements made. They also charge that opposition has been shown by Mr. Bower to their efforts to organize and bargain collectively.

It is safe to say that Mr. Veniot will make no recommendation to his colleagues in the Cabinet that a Royal Commission be appointed. The charges which the postal workers have made should be investigated by one of the Inspectors of the Department whose business it is to inquire into such matters. If he should find just cause for complaint in any respect, he will so report and remedial measures will be promptly taken; but if he should find that the charges are the result of a grudge or any other improper motive, he will, of course, be equally frank and the Department should have no hesitation in dispensing with the services of those who were prominent in laying them.

STILL DOING GOOD WORK

ALTHOUGH THE EIGHTH GATHERing of the Assembly of the League of Nations may not have accomplished anything very spectacular, it made important progress when it succeeded in preparing the way for more arbitration pacts—more Locarnos. Its discussions of disarmament, notwithstanding the recent fiasco, likewise bid fair to produce results sooner than seemed possible a few weeks ago.

Of great importance to the world at large, however, is the fact that this great organization, with its membership of fifty countries, continues to develop the desire for peace and by its labors makes peace a more potent force in the minds of the peoples of the world. The task it has set itself is not an easy one; but membership in it obviously is a strong deterrent for a would-be trouble maker. As the League grows in influence, war-like actions by any if its members will be less likely. Control of itself is its best advertisement to attract those nations that at present are standing aloof.

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE

IF THERE IS ANYBODY IN CANADA who has discovered how to reduce taxation and at the same time spend money lavishly, Hon. James A. Robb, Dominion Minister of Finance, would like to meet him before he prepares his next budget. This was a humorous reference to one of the resolutions which the Canadian Chamber of Commerce passed at its recent annual meeting in Vancouver, and the Minister was talking to some of the eastern delegates when they passed through Winnipeg the other day.

There is much point as well as humor in the remark. The people of British Columbia just now are being told by Dr. Tolmie what the Government of this Province should do to aid this and that—all involving the expenditure of public money. The Colonist tells us this morning that the Administration across the Bay could cut its entire taxation by one-third, and repeatedly urges programmes for the carrying out of which a great deal more revenue than is coming in at the present time would be required. It is so simple to pass resolutions in favor of this or that public undertaking; but when it comes to finding the money it is a different matter altogether.

Governments can assist various projects and help to make them a success; but when it advances money, be the security as safe as the Dominion, it is the people's money from the people's pockets. If the people do not object, well and good; but they can not have their cake and eat it as well. There is too great a tendency to run hat in hand to governments in these days when much could be done by the people themselves if they would go about it in the right way. Projects that are good enough for a government to support ought to be good enough for an organization of citizens to support. More self-reliance and faith on their part would produce a condition that would soon warrant lower taxation.

FAR FROM CLAP-TRAP

DEAN INGE OF ST. PAUL'S CATHEdral says government of, by and for the people is clap-trap.

A well-known newspaper writer replies that "that's what the late Sultan of Turkey said, also the late Czar of Russia, and some others."

Government of, by and for the people may not always produce the best results. The average voter may not always realize his responsibilities and discharge them intelligently; but his position in the scheme of things is important as long as he has the power to change governments that do not govern properly.

No matter what Dean Inge may think of democratic progress, however, it has produced a form of government that will last. Democracy may not be the most efficient system temporarily, but it is the safest.

History shows us a ghastly alternative in anarchy and chaos. Perhaps Dean Inge would prefer the latter, since it would furnish him with enough gloom to satisfy him.

THE PIPES IN SKYE

By a Correspondent in The London Times

Across the bay of Portree, in the Isle of Skye, the south wind blows softly. Yachts ride at anchor; small motor-boats are moored closer in-shore. The sky is of a deep, serene blue; the sun shines warmly. Portree, the capital of Skye, is built beside the tide, but in a few hundred yards one can leave the small town and climb to a country of heather, and fresh, vital breezes—a country where each moorland flower seems to whisper and each leaf seems to listen to the music of the breath of the White Wind from the South. The Skye Gathering is held on the summit of a little hill, which has been levelled and a circular area of green grass built up. It is an ideal site. No Highland meeting is held under such perfect conditions. The whole of the range of the dark Cuillin hills rose in a silent company southward. Soft sunlight burned upon each corrie and each rocky slope, so steep that even the sure-footed stag is unable to climb here.

THE TORII, found in the Far Eastern countries, is a peculiar portal that usually marks the approach to a temple, shrine or cemetery, and guards the entrance to all harbors. The Torii has come down from antiquity. Several theories are advanced as to its origin, but the most probable of these affirms that the portal was derived from a Chinese ideograph which signifies Heaven.

That base ball, the national game of America dates back to the old English game of rounders. The first club in America was the Knickerbocker Club, founded in New York in 1845, but the game did not become national until 1865.

NEAR EAST ORPHANS

To the Editor:—The orphan children of the Near East are again under obligation to you. Thanks to the wide publicity you gave our request for a home for worthy orphan boys from Greece and Syria three good homes in or near Victoria have been opened. We have thoroughly investigated the three applicants and find them morally, religiously, and in every other way proper and fit persons to undertake the care of the children and their homes furnish suitable surroundings for them. The children will be legally adopted and will be made members of the family in every way.

Thanks also to your further publicity, I have received one cheque for $50 and a pledge of $50 due early this month on the expense of these children. The one thing that will stand now in the way of these three splendid boys coming from countries of sorrow to our own glorious land will be the matter of a few hundred dollars of expense money. So far, the best rates we have been able to secure are $300 per child and when you consider that the balance of $600 means the difference between some boy having a splendid chance in life and the same boy being in all probability stunted by surroundings which he cannot overcome, I feel sure that others will be glad to respond to this request for funds to bring these boys over.

I have requested our agents in the Near East to find boys who are not only physically strong, mentally alert and morally clean, but also boys who can adapt themselves to new surroundings both in the home and in the country where they are seeking asylum. It may be some time before I have actual photographs and history of the children as there are many vexing delays in the Near East, delays to which we are unaccustomed in this country, but which are unavoidable in a land where time means as little as it does there. However, I fully expect to hear in a very short time and hope that we may secure the funds for bringing the boys over by that time, and that other homes may be opened and more funds secured that more of the 35,000 children now in our care may have their chance in this land of opportunity.

Hence, I must make further appeal to the people of Victoria and districts for to lend their assistance to this worthy cause, either by cheque or promise. All cheques or pledges to be forwarded to the undersigned.

Editor of New York Sun Delighted With Jasper Park

Jasper, Sept. 27.—"We came to stay four days, on our way back from Vancouver, and we stayed two weeks."

This is the tribute paid to Jasper National Park by the distinguished journalist, author and traveler, Robert Hobart Davis. He and Mrs. Davis said good-bye to a round of friends at Jasper Park Lodge last night, and boarded the Continental Limited for Winnipeg, on the way to New York. Mr. Davis is editor of The New York Sun.

"I can't understand why people go abroad," he said last night, "when they can find such noble aspects at their very doors." American tourists spend millions in Europe every year, and I can't see why, especially when Europe is out to get all it can out of them. I like Canada, Mrs. Davis and I are coming back again next year. We plan to go to Alaska, and we shall not miss Jasper on the way back."

$500,000,000 WOULD END FLOOD MENACE

Arkansas Governor Suggests Federal Aid to Control Mississippi

Bankers at Seattle Differ on Ethics of Bond Business

Seattle, Sept. 28.—A Federal appropriation of upwards of $500,000,000 would end "for once and all" the Mississippi Valley flood control problem in the opinion of Governor John E. Martineau of Arkansas, a speaker to-day before the sixteenth annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America.

"Flood control is a vital national problem and one too large and too comprehensive to be well met by the states affected," Governor Martineau declared.

"Not only to the South, but, in a lesser degree, to the financial stability of the whole country, is it essential that steps be taken to remedy the situation. The prevention of floods in the Alluvialation of the Mississippi is a matter which will require the centralized and exclusive attention of some Federal agency.

PERMANENTLY

"From the best information I can gather, the work will cost $500,000,000, but that amount would remove the menace of the Mississippi for once and for all."

Internal differences among the members of the association over the many phases of ethical conduct, in the bond business are said to have been aired in committee meetings of the last two days. In some of the seventeen sectional groups included in the association, codes of ethics have been adopted and penalties prescribed for their violation. Difficulty on enforcement and divergence of opinion as to what constitutes violations have been found in many cases, however.

For many years there has been a minority movement for adoption by the national association of a uniform ethical code and this question is slated to come to a head when the important business problems committee presents its annual report to-morrow.

ARCHBISHOP MATHIEU IN REGINA HOSPITAL

Patient Since Early in July Reported Very Weak To-day

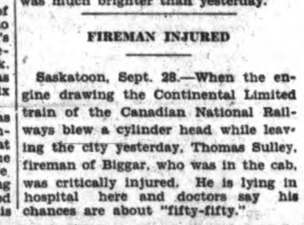

Regina, Sept. 28.—The condition of His Grace, Archbishop Mathieu who has been a patient at the Grey Nun's Hospital since early in July, was reported this morning to be very weak. No noticeable change, however, has taken place within the last thirty-six hours.

Throughout Tuesday, His Grace was not as bright as usual and his temperature rose last night. Not a great deal of importance was attached at the hospital to the increased temperature however, as it has been fluctuating throughout the past few weeks. A good night was spent last night and this morning His Grace, though very weak, was much brighter than yesterday.

DEBT RETIREMENT PLAN FOR CANADA URGED BY FINANCIER

Daly Lauds Robb's Accomplishment and Suggests Policy of Continuity

Toronto, Sept. 28.—Miss Agnes MacPhail recently challenged the contention of the Dominion Government that it had substantially reduced the national debt. Mr. Robb, finance minister, gave the exact figure of that reduction, $104,315,846. Furthermore he stated that he could pay off in cash $37,000,000 of Government issues soon to mature, and in addition take care of a considerable part of a later maturing issue of $63,000,000.

All that indicated a very healthy condition of national finance and prominent bankers are more ready to praise Mr. Robb for his conduct of the public treasury than evidently is Miss MacPhail.

R. A. Daly, president of the R. A. Daly Company, and past president of the Investment Bankers' Association of Canada, when asked yesterday for his appraisal of the finance minister's accomplishment in the matter of debt retirement, said:

"Mr. Robb has done very well. I would, however, like him to go further and to give his adhesion to a plan which will extinguish our national debt in forty years."

Mr. Daly, in conjunction with J. A. Kemp of the Canadian Bankers' Association, and F. Martin Turnbull, financial controller of the province of Ontario, was the author of a similar plan for the retirement of the provincial debt in the same period of forty years.

"My scheme," said he, "would retire the national debt by 1967, the centenary of confederation, through annual payments of $23,447,000 together with the interest on bonds redeemed. As this amount is no greater than the average amount of debt that has been retired by Mr. Robb in each of the last few years, it is quite obvious that I have nothing but applause for his performance. I wish, however, that he would perpetuate his wisdom by leaving no loophole for himself or any successor to deviate from his salutary practice. It would be well if the Canadian Government did, as the British and American governments have done, and definitely committed itself to a plan of debt retirement."

The United States treasury in seven fiscal years, ending in June, 1926, had paid off $5,847,000,000 of its national debt which under the present treasury programme would be entirely extinguished in 1948. That was the result of an act of Congress that annually there should be appropriated for the sinking fund two-and-one-half per cent. of the bonds and notes outstanding under the Liberty Loan acts and amounting to $19,581,000,000, less the par amount of the obligations of foreign governments.

"Repayment of foreign loans," remarked Mr. Daly, "have had little to do with this American debt reduction of $6,000,000,000. Only $790,000,000 of it came from that source."

Great Britain also had a plan of debt reduction to which it was committed by act of Parliament, although, owing to financial difficulties, it was in arrears of the annual net repayments according to the plan laid down. Canada, without being tied down to any definite plan, was paying off its national debt, which was largely a war debt, at a faster rate than Great Britain, but it should in this matter take the United States as its model.

"We ought not to be ashamed to copy the wise system of the United States treasury," said Mr. Daly. Perhaps one of the secrets of America's success had been the fact that its history since the Revolution had always been one of the prompt extinguishment of debt. It had borne steadily in mind the advice of the first secretary of the treasury, Alexander Hamilton, who had said in 1790: "As the vicissitudes of nations beget a perpetual tendency to the accumulation of debt, there ought to be in every government a perpetual anxious and unceasing effort to reduce that which at any time exists as fast as shall be practicable."

Mr. Daly wanted Mr. Robb's praiseworthy reductions of the last five years to be perpetuated by act of Parliament in "a perpetual anxious and unceasing effort" that would tie the hands of future governments.

"This would, as it were," said he, "take the debt out of politics. I am a Conservative, but I do not approve of attempts to deny what has been accomplished in debt reduction. Neither should debt reduction be considered an extraordinary virtue. It should be gone ahead with at a specific rate, now that it is apparent that there is a real improvement in conditions in Canada. The plan I suggest is really an adaptation to our conditions to the scheme that has worked so successfully in the States under Secretary Mellon."

His proposed amount of annual retirement, $23,447,000,000, was, of course, in addition to the annual interest on the net national debt which latter, at the beginning of this year, stood at $2,364,000,000, and has since been further reduced.

"Forty times twenty-three million odd," said the interviewer, "is roughly a few million over one billion. How can the net national debt be cut so drastically by over fifty per cent."

"It can be done," said Mr. Daly, "by the saving in interest." He brought out a table which showed that if his retirement scheme were adopted the total retirement of debt in the year 1929 would be through the saving of interest $997,000 more than $23,447,000,000. The beneficial effects of debt reitrement were tremendously accumulative. In 1967, for instance, the reduction from the national debt through the saving of interest would be the enormous sum of $95,436,000. In the first ten years the debt would be cut nearly 300 million dollars; in the next ten by 400 million, and in the succeeding decade by nearly 700 millions.

It may seem fantastic that such enormous reductions can be made by the comparatively pretty instalment of some $23,000,000 annually, but a public school pupil who can add and subtract and calculate interest would not have the least difficulty in being convinced by Mr. Daly's table.

But Mr. Robb would not achieve these results even if he continued his present admirable rate of debt reduction. "Governments," said Mr. Daly, "have the habit of applying that saving of interest to the reduction of their general expenses. Unless Mr. Robb goes beyond his present programme and makes a point of adding the saving of interest he will have to keep on retiring each year a larger amount. Under the debt retirement plan suggested a fixed annual amount will be quite sufficient with the saving of interest."

R. B. Bennett had put forward quite a different debt retirement plan, but Mr. Daly declared it full of flaws and most demonstrably certain to miss its objective.

He summed up the benefits of a debt retirement plan to which the country would be committed by act of Parliament and which would not be left optional with each succeeding finance minister. There might not always be at Ottawa a Mr. Robb.

"It is a good thing to tie the hands of governments," said he, "and to make debt retirement a permanent feature of administration. That is the only way you can be sure of the debt being ultimately extinguished. Moreover, the credit of the country is at once raised when a definite policy of debt retirement is undertaken. If Canada were to begin such a scheme it would have a wonderful effect on its financial reputation abroad. Immigrants would know that they were coming to a country with a steadily decreasing burden of taxation. Domestically the effect would be very advantageous. There would be that release of capital for constructive and development purposes which is very desirable in a country of Canada's untapped resources."

Another benefit of a fixed policy of debt retirement would be that the public would be taken into this national saving scheme. No longer would they have the impression that debt reduction was something alien to themselves and due to the dexterity of an ingenious finance minister. It would in a real sense make posterity pay for the war by making the public realize that the national debt could be paid off only by national saving.

"Debt retirement," said Mr. Daly, "will obviate the false impression of a large surplus. When there is a surplus there is a great deal of pressure on a government to spend it. Many communities want public improvements. On all sides there is a desire to eat up the nest egg. If a government has a surplus it cannot plead that it is short of funds and it is likely to yield to pressure. If, however, it were inevitable that a certain part of the surplus go into a debt retirement scheme the surplus would be reduced to its real proportions."

Lauding what Mr. Robb had accomplished, Mr. Daly desires him to go boldly forward in the arduous path of debt retirement, make it a permanent scheme, with an arrangement for utilizing the tremendous possibilities of the saving of interest. Only in that way could Canada be clear of its present debt by 1967.

Dazed by Inheritance, Killed by Motor Car

Shanghai, Sept. 28.—All of his life Wong Lu-ting worked hard as a wharf coolie in Canton. Three weeks ago came wonderful news. A relative had died in Shanghai. Wong had inherited unheard of wealth—more than $1,000.

Fortune deigned to smile on Wong, but fate took a hand in the game. All matters pertaining to the inheritance were settled two days ago at the Provisional Court. That same day the blissful Wong was to receive the money that spelled a life of ease for him and his large family.

Outside the Provisional Court, Wong, in a daze, walked into the path of a motor car driven by Alex. Moskowitch, a Russian. At St. Luke's Hospital an hour later he died from a fractured skull and internal injuries.

DICTATE DRESS

Kosciusko, Miss, Sept. 28—The school board of Leake county has decided that no flapper teachers are going to guide the children through the coming school year. The board has decreed that teachers must wear sleeves to within an inch of the elbows and skirts no shorter than midway between ankle and knee.

Latvian railways have only 17,408 miles of lines.

AT THE THEATRES

PEGGY LEWIS BACK ON PLAYHOUSE BILL IN "IRISH JUSTICE"

Peggy Lewis, a never-failing source of merriment to Victoria audiences, has joined the Playhouse Players, and appears in this week's production, "Irish Justice." She plays the role of the Bigamist Lady with Seven Husbands. She has a screamingly funny song, called "I Walked Home from the Buggy Ride," and puts it over well.

Also on the same bill Monte Blue, star of "Bitter Apples," the Warner Brothers' production now at the Playhouse, gives a performance which will add laurels to his already great fame.

He is cast as John Wyncote, son of a defaulting bank president, who, dying, has left the fury of bankrupted depositors to be met by his boy. Heir to the bad name which his father has left, and to the hatred of hundreds, especially that of Maria and Stefani Blanco (Myrna Loy and Paul Ellis), children of a ruined creditor who has commited suicide.

HOLMES HERBERT PLAYS FINE ROLE IN COLUMBIA FILM

Holmes Herbert, who recently scored as the millionaire builder in "The Fire Brigade," is a member of the cast of "Mr. Wu," Lon Chaney's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

Herbert portrays the role of the English millionaire whose industrial battle with the uncanny mandarin is contrasted with the battle of wits of his wife, played by Louise Dresser, who fights for the life of her son. Herbert was a noted stage actor before achieving success on the screen in a number of notable roles.

The new picture, directed by William Nigh, stars Chaney as the mysterious mandarin in the Oreintal mystery play, a role made famous on the stage by Walker Whiteside.

Renee Adoree and Gertrude Olmsted are also in the cast.

SOUSA COVERS BIG TERRITORY DURING TOUR THIS YEAR

Atlantic City is the easternmost point on the travels of Lieut.-Com. John Philip Sousa during the thirty-fifth annual tour of his famous band. Sousa began his season in Atlantic City on July 17, but before his organization disbands in November he will have been as far to the west and northwest as Victoria, as far to the north as Winnipeg, and as far to the south as Oklahoma City. Sousa's travels for 1927, his fiftieth year as a conductor, take him into twenty-seven U. S. states and five Canadian provinces. Sousa will celebrate his seventy-third birthday during his tour—November 6.

COMEDIAN ABLE TO REMAIN GENTLEMAN DIRECTOR DECLARES

A great English writer once said, "No gentleman can be a comedian." He followed up his remark by discussing the very nature of comedy, which he described as a buffoonery on the better elements of human nature; and he deduced that anyone who makes fun of another person or of another person's eccentricities or mental peculiarities is no gentleman.

Charles Reisner, who directed Syd Chaplin in his latest laughing thriller, "The Missing Link," now at the Dominion Theatre, objects to this view of comedy, citing Chaplin as a fitting example.

"In no scence of any comedy Chaplin has made," avers Reisner, "has he been anything but a perfect gentleman. Syd is known by everyone who has the least contact with him as a polished gentleman, cultured both in intellect and association with people.

The uproarious slapstick fun of "The Missing Link" is always clean fun. It is the sort of rough-and-ready tomfoolery to which the whole family from "Shuffle-Shoon" to "Amber-Locks" may be brought with confidence.

BENNY HENDRICKS CLOSE FRIEND TO REGINALD DENNY

Ben Hendricks Jr., who plays the role of "Buddy" to Reginald Denny in the star's latest Universal super comedy, "Out All Night," which will be shown at the Captiol Theatre all this week, should be perfectly natural in the part, as he is Denny's closest pal in real life.

The two met for the first time in New York City quite a few years ago. Both of them were broke and both of them were out of work. In their mutual misery they turned to each other and have been fast friends ever since. Hendricks was the first to find a job—with a musical comedy touring New York State—and he prevailed upon the producer to hire Denny also.

Denny was the first to try the movies, but Hendricks was not long in following him to Hollywood, where Denny made up for past favors and has arranged to have Ben in practically every picture he has made.

The specialties at the Capitol Theatre for this week include the Carlton Sisters and Mack in a novelty presentation, which introduces several popular melodies. Aurelio Sciacqua, the Italian tenor, is delighting Capitol patrons with his very fine singing, and last, but not least, is Syd Barnes, the comical English monologist, who has the happy knack of knowing just what pleases theatregoers most, as is evident by the applause this clever artist receives nightly.

BIG HEAVYWEIGHT BATTLE TO APPEAR ON SILVER SCREEN

The fight pictures of the Dempsey vs. Tunney fight for the world's championship at Soldier's Field at Chicago on September 22 that will be shown next week at the Coliseum Theatre, should put an end to the many arguments over the fight. The management is highly elated to be able to present this extraordinary attraction to Victoria theatregoers, at the same time as the other big cities of the world are going to see it. There are many who still think that Dempsey should have won that fight, in the seventh round, when the heavy slugger knocked Tunney down for a long count. The seventh round in these fight pictures, is shown in slow-motion as well as at the ordinary rate of speed, so that everyone will be able to see for his or herself just what did happen.

The efficient way that the fight was broadcast over the radio, blow for blow, helps to make the pictures of the battle more interesting.

In order to accommodate the large crowds that are sure to come to see this fight picture, Manager G. L. Nichols will run a matinee daily during the week, at slightly reduced prices The picture may be seen on Monday afternoon, and for the remainder of next week.

MRS. WILSON PLAYS "THE RED WIDOW"

Talented Singer Takes Leading Role in Musical Comedy Here This Week

Mrs. Lily Wilson, well-known in musical circles, is playing the leading role in the musical comedy, "The Red Widow," which will be staged at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Mrs. Wilson, whose voice has won high honors for her in musical festivals and makes her a pronounced favorite on local platforms, is to be the "Red Widow," a role which gives plenty of scope for her beautiful soprano voice and also to her ability as an actress.

MRS. LILY WILSON

"The Red Widow" is in London on a visit from the Nihilist headquarters in Moscow in the hope of gaining possession of a secret code. She meets Capt. Basil Romanoff, played by Frank Tupman, and also Col. Hannibal Butts of Yonkers, N.Y., famous corset manufacturer, played by Art Kerr. By devious ways the trio get to Russia and their reunion is accompanied by the appearance of Mrs. Butts, played by Merle North; Maron Maxmilian Scarecovitch, a Russian detective, played by "Bun" Trevitt, and Count Ivan Scorpioff, chief of the Russian secret police, played by Herbert Kent. The reunion provides some of the most startling comedy of the show.

The opening show to-morrow night will attract a splendid audience. Full houses are assured for the last two nights. There will be no matinee on Saturday.

Battered Victim to Death With Bottles

Montreal, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press) —Ida Crumowski and Fred Kestoski were found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in the court of King's Bench today in connection with the murder of Yvan Dzubak here during the night of June 22. The victim was battered to death with bottles, hammers and other heavy instruments, and the medical evidence at the trial showed that he had more than one hundred wounds.

The accused will be sentenced at the close of the present term of the court of King's Bench.

JURY ABSOLVES BOY WHO KILLED FATHER

Justifiable Homicide Verdict in Oakland Shooting Case

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 28. — Jerome Cornell Jr., aged thirteen, was absolved of blame in the fatal shooting of his stepfather, Charles Van Alderwelt, when a coroner's jury last night returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. The boy killed his stepfather with a 22-calibre rifle Monday when the man started beating and choking his wife, the boy's mother.

DENY THEY'RE ENGAGED—AGAIN

Greta Garbo and John Gilbert in "Love."

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 28.—Watch for more rumors of John Gilbert and Greta Garbo being engaged—and also more denials.

Movie fans became quite excited over the prospective marriage of the two screen stars last Winter about the time "Flesh and the Devil" was released. But in time the whole affair blew over. Maybe it was a publicity stunt to put the picture over—perhaps it wasn't.

But, nevertheless, it will not be at all surprising if the samb reports are broadcast from the celluloid village once more. "Love," the second Gilbert-Garbo film, has just been completed. As the title implies, this story based on Leo Tolstoy's "Anna Karenina," features the same sort of passionate love scenes that were responsible for the stories some months ago.

It is well known that "Flesh and the Devil" was one of the biggest money makers on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer 1926 programme. And the engagement stories had not a little to do with its success. If Hollywood gossip doesn't engage these two again—well, I've seen publicity departments start worse things than that.

I talked to Gilbert about the possibilities of the film arousing new talk over the apparently once settled question.

"I have nothing to say about it whatever," declared Jack with some emphasis. "There was too much trouble over that same question once before. Every newspaper in the country carried stories that we were about to be married. It wouldn't be fair to Miss Garbo for me to say anything at all."

So I hastened over to Greta Garbo's dressing-room.

"I have no control over what is said or printed but I am not engaged to Mr. Gilbert and am not going to be," said Miss Garbo. "Jack is a fine boy and I like him immensely but there are going to be no wedding bells—or even diamonds."

That was that. And as far as the principals are concerned the entire affair is ended—that is, they think it is. But they are going to be besieged with questions just as they were once before.

Why? Perhaps, because the public doesn't give them credit for being able to act well enough to portray such convincing love scenes without actually being in love.

VALENTINO—This life-size bust of the late Rudolph Valentino was unveiled at the public memorial service held recently in Los Angeles, commemorating the anniversary of the screen star's death. The statue, made by Humberto Pedretti, was placed in the entrance of the Blessed Sacrament Church for the memorial services.

CONSERVATIVE WARD ASSOCIATIONS MEET

Leonard Tait Heads Ward Three Organization at Annual Meeting

Conservative ward associations are holding annual meetings to elect officers and representatives to the executive of the central association.

Ward Three Conservatives met last night and elected the following officers: Chairman, Leonard Tait; secretary, A. L. Curtis; members of the central executive committee: E. E. Coady-Johnson, J. P Parnall, C. H. Revercomb and Hugh McDonald.

D. B. Plunkett, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, made a strong appeal for organization work to keep Ward Three Conservatives. He asked for a large audience at the annual meeting of the central association which will hear Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative leader. Dr. Tolmie, he said, would outline his policy. Conservative senators and members of the Legislature also would speak, Mr. Plunkett said.

Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., urged Ward Three Conservatives to undertake intensive organization work.

"Buddy" is turning out as mascot of the hight school football team and over-exerted himself in a scrimmage Monday, developing a cold.

"Mutt" is a periodical visitor to the hospital and seems to like it.

MARION TALLEY IN SEATTLE; NO DANCES, HARD WORK IS WAY TO SUCCESS FOR GIRLS, SHE SAYS

Seattle, Sept. 28.—Don't envy Marion Talley.

What if she is only twenty and world famous? What if she is talented and pretty with large, starry blue eyes and lips that form a perfect rosebud? What if she enthralls thousands with her voice and her art? What if she receives thousands of dollars each week for her concerts?

Marion hasn't any boy friends and, so far, she hasn't been fortunate enough to have an opportunity to get married.

Her mother, Mrs. Helen H. Talley, Marion's traveling companion, says so.

And, of course, her mother ought to know. And the words are Mrs. Talley's own. "Now when I was her age I was married already," Mrs. Talley confided to a reporter.

But, listen—all you girls with sweet voices and high ambitions—if you want to succeed, if you want to sing with the Metropolitan grand opera in New York, if you want to emulate Marion Talley's success, you've got to get your mind off the boys.

And furthermore, you've got to get your mind off parties and shows and dances. You've got to get married to your art. You've got to be a slave to your voice, to your ambitions, to your work. Or, according to Marion Talley, the Kansas City schoolgirl grand opera star, you can't succeed.

Two things are absolutely essentian, Marion says. One is natural talent. The other is devotion to work.

Since she was ten years old Marion has "been singing in earnest," Mrs. Talley says. "I sing every day," Marion said. "I don't know what to tell girls who hope to win grand opera fame. Each case is different. Each one requires different attention. But they must work hard and they must give up all for their voice."

Marion, with her mother and sister, are occupying a suite at the Olmpic Hotey. She is visiting Mrs. Minna K. Powell of Everett, who was music critic on The Kansas City Star when Marion first started to attract fame. Mrs. Powell took her under her guidance and helped her along. Both mother and Marion are grateful.

To-night the girl artist appears in concert at the Metropolitan Theatre under the auspices of the Ladies' Musical Club of Seattle. The house is sold out.

Didn't stop to think—"What did Keneth think of Helen?"

"He didn't think; he married her."

VANCOUVER WOMAN GIVEN POSITION ON POLICE FORCE

Commissioner Staneland Finds Suitable Policewoman in Mainland City

Commissioners Ban Weekly Police Dances, But Sanction Big Police Ball

Margaret W. Walker of Vancouver has been appointed to the post of policewoman to the Victoria police department on probation, commencing her duties October 1. Following Commissioner Walter Stateniand's visit to Vancouver to interview applicants for this position recently, Chief of Police Long of the mainland city, introduced Miss Walker to the commissioner. He found her to be efficient and promising in every way, Commissioner Staneland reported at the meeting of the board of commissioners yesterday, and he moved her appointment forthwith. Mayor J. C. Pendray, who met Miss Walker in Vancouver, seconded her appointment.

"She is the very type we want," said Commissioner Staneland. "She is highly recommended and I am sure will be satisfactory."

Commissioner A. M. Aitken stated that he was satisfied with the choice of Commissioner Staneland, but that he wished that a local applicant might have been appointed.

The board authorized Chief of Police Fry and his officers to hold the annual police ball under the patronage of the board of police commissioners.

WEEKLY DANCES BANNED

On top of this decision, Commissioner Staneland alleged that the public were beginning to look upon police headquarters as a sort of dance hall. He objected to the weekly dances which the Victoria Police Mutual Benefit Association had been giving, he said. The dances took up much of the men's spare time, he thought.

Commissioner Aitken, while not attacking the custom itself, did not like to see a dance held apparently for the benefit of the musicians who played there. Chief Fry admitted that the orchestra ate up a greater part of the profit of these social affairs.

The board banned weekly dances, and will only tolerate one gathering of the kind a month.

TO MEET TRUSTEES

To discuss a safety plan for the protection of school children on the streets of Victoria, Commissioner Aitken was chosen delegate of the board to meet with the Board of School Trustees and decide upon ways and means of educating the young students for their own welfare. It is the intention of the commission to send Inspector John Boulton out to the schools to deliver lectures to the pupils and aid in the campaign against traffic mishaps, which the city is about to undertake.

COLDS FOLLOW FIRST DAYS OF SCHOOL CONFINEMENT

One isn't being a pessimist when he looks forward to the first school days being punctuated with much coughing and sneezing and nose blowing, for this inevitably happens when a child who has spent months in the open air is cooped up in school.

Some families seem subject to constant colds. One or the other of the children forever has a "runny" nose or a "running" ear from the beginning of cold weather. Such a family lacks the resistance to overcome cold germs which are always seeking a home. More sunshine, better food or the proper food, is needed to build up their resistance. What such a family needs is a better understanding of what foods are necessary to keep children in good health and able to fight off germs. Milk, fresh vegetables and fruits, and whole grain cereals should make up the diet of any school child. Cod liver oil is a better tonic than any other that can be bought in a bottle, and if the child is underweight and subject to frequent illnesses it's a foregone conclusion that he will be benefitted by it, no matter what his age.

Keep the sick child in bed and his body at an even temperature. Give him plenty of water to drink. Give him simple, wholesome food. It he has even a low temperature keep him in bed a day after this is gone. Make him comfortable by putting warm albolene in his swollen nose. If other remedies are needed a doctor should advise them. These are just measures that any mother can follow safely.

Head colds can very easily result in ear infections, for the nose channels run directly to the ear. The first indication will be a high fever and earache and later this may result in the pressure of pus behind the ear bursting the drum.

If there is pressure which must be relieved, this had better be done by the doctor who will make a neat puncture in the ear drum that will drain the pus, and heal quickly.

Ear-aches should be treated with heat. Put a hot water bag over the ear and wash out the ear itself with quite hot boric acid water, using a bulb syringe. But it is far better when the child has a severe ear-ache and fever to consult a doctor and by the proper treatment prevent more serious troubles.

SCOTTISH BEAUTY WED TO AMERICAN

But U.S. Immigration Laws Detain Bride in Canada

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 28.—Nineteen-year-old Jean Rutherford of Dalkeith, Scotland, who won the beauty title of "Miss Great Britain" in a contest conducted by an English newspaper in 1926, is the bride of a young American, now in Louisville, but certain technicalities of the United States immigration laws are temporarily holding her in Prescott, Ont.

William A. Logan, twenty-five, spent his vacation in Scotland this June and met Miss Rutherford at a dance. Their engagement followed and then he returned to the United States. It was decided that Miss Rutherford would come over as soon as possible and marry him.

They met in Quebec, September 3, and were married and then found that the immigration laws barred her entry. Meantime, Logan had to return to his duties. Papers asking for Mrs. Logan's entry have been filed.

Prescott, Ont., Sept. 28.—Mrs. W. A. Jean Logan has been detained at this border town for two weeks, while the United States Labor Department officials are straightening out her visa tangle.

Consular officials here stated that the case would be cleared up in a few days.

WOMEN MAKE MONEY FISHING FOR SILK

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—Approximately 3,500 parcels of raw silk have been recovered from the Fraser River, and another 1,000 bales are still missing, but will be recovered, according to Canadian Pacific Railway officials.

QUEBEC CHAMPION BEATEN IN CLOSED GOLF TOURNAMENT

Miss Virtue Loses to Miss Smith; Ada Mackenzie Plays Great Golf and Wins

Toronto, Sept. 28.—Miss Maude Smith, of Toronto, provided a sensation in the second round of the Canadian ladies' closed golf championship to-day by beating Miss Dora Virtue, Quebec district champion, 5 and 4.

Playing fine golf and sinking a fourteen-foot putt for a par four at the long fifteenth hole, Miss Ada Mackenzie earned the right to enter the third round by ousting Mrs. Gordon Ferrie, Hamilton, 4 and 3. Mrs. Ferrie battled gallantly, but the titleholder's steady par shooting gave her the match. Mrs. Ferrie was a former holder of the title.

BELGIAN ARTIST TO EXHIBIT WORK

Jan Van Empel, Who Spent Year in Jasper Park, Will Visit Coast Shortly

Jasper, Alta., Sept. 28.—After a sojourn of nearly a year in Jasper National Park during which time he has painted many scenes at this mountain resort, Jan Van Empel, landscape painter, left to-day to spend the Winter on the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Van Empel has seen a great deal of the Western Hemisphere. Ever since the time he ran away from school in Belgium and shipped to New York, he has been leading a life of happy-go-lucky vagabondage. Driven ever onward by the urge to know life and know it as it is free of the artificialities of what is called civilization he has wandered from Cuba to Alaska, and now he calls himself a Canadian.

"I like this country," he said, speaking of his months in Jasper. "It is young and virile, I want to express it. I want to put my reactions to it on canvas." That he has done so in a measure, is manifested in group of canvasses he hopes to exhibit within a few weeks in Vancouver and some other coast cities. The cold relentless sweep of the Maligne River, the resplendence of Mount Robson, the intimate beauty of Whistler Mountain under the snow, Pocahontas, the peaks, lakes trails and trees of a vigorous country he has recorded vividly and vigorously. He has sought the rhythm of Jasper, the sweep and the strength of it, and in doing so he has revealed himself and at the same time something of the soul of Canada.

Big Shipbuilder Now on Honeymoon

Alfred Wallace, head of the large Wallace Shipyards at North Vancouver, was married quietly last Saturday to Mrs. S. B. Chellis, daughter of Mrs. Leonard W. Johnston.

News of the marriage, which was performed at the Canadian Memorial Church by the Rev. G. O. Fallis, became public with the arrival of the shipbuilder and his bride in Victoria on the beginning of their honeymoon trip. They stayed at the Empress Hotel and now have gone on to Seattle.

MOTION PICTURE MOVE WATCHED

Many in Acting and Technical Phases of Industry Would Come to Victoria

Large numbers of British people now resident in Hollywood and other picture colonies in California are watching Victoria's endeavor to start a motion picture industry, according to Eric C. Clarkson, Santa Barbara architect, who is in the city to-day with the intention of making his home here.

To The Times to-day Mr. Clarkson stated he had come in contact with large numbers of men and women engaged in the technical and active professions of the motion picture industry, who would jump at the opportunity of transferring their activities to Victoria. Engaged in the designing for the Famous Players Lasky and other firms, Mr. Clarkson, came to Victoria to get in touch with Claude Flemming, head of the British syndicate now seeking financial aid in London for a start here.

Mr. Clarkson knows the Williamson interests in Australia, under whose banner the actor manager made his name in the Commonwealth, and believes Mr. Flemming is one of the best choices the city could have selected for the purpose of initiating the industry here.

United States producers were not worrying about the British quota law, Mr. Clarkson said, as the percentage of the output affected at present is slight. There was, however, considerable interest in the British Columbia field by reason of the natural scenic advantages and favorable weather conditions. Victoria, according to Mr. Clarkson, is ideal for picture production insofar as its technical and mechanical phases are concerned.

Contracts for the production of pictures were the ruling factor in the promotion of the industry, and if these were secured almost any concern that was properly managed could be sure of a decided success, he said. Heavy losses could result if production were undertaken without the assurance of releases, concluded Mr. Clarkson, who will remain here to await the return of Mr. Flemming.

WOULD MAKE TRIP TO SOUTH ON MAST

Man Claiming He is Champion Pole Sitter Would Ride on Mast of H. F. Alexander

Inspired by the records recently achieved by pole sitters in Los Angeles, one of which dangled from the top of a flag pole for twenty-one days, thereby establishing what she claimed to be a world's record, Ignace Borowski, a resident of Tacoma, has applied to E. G. McMicken, passenger traffic manager of the Admiral Line, headquarters Seattle, for permission to ride the tip of the foremost of the coastwise liner H. F. Alexander from Seattle to San Francisco, Los Angeles and return to Seattle. Borowski's request reads: "Los Angeles thinks she has pole sitters that can sit. I can sit better than any of them, male or female. For my meals I will sit on top of the foremast of the H. F. Alexander from Seattle to Los Angeles and return. If there is any sitter that can sit better than that, let me hear from them."

The voyage contemplated by Borowski is approximately 2,500 miles at an altitude of 125 feet above the water line on a vessel which travels twenty-two and a-half knots an hour, or about 2,200 feet a minute.

Passenger Traffic Manager McMicken's emphatic reply to the request was "No thank you."

SAYS NARROW VIEW ON TRADE WILL NOT BUILD UP PROVINCE

B.C. Should Not Antagonize Foreign Business Men, Pattullo Warns

Tolmie Out in Facts in Complaining of Lack of Development, Minister Asserts

British Columbia's business and development is proceeding by leaps and bounds but it cannot be permanently assisted by narrow policies, and by a senseless antagonism of foreign business men, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, declared in a statement issued to-day, in reply to recent utterances of Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative Party Leader. He added that Dr. Tolmie ignored the actual facts of this Province's prosperity and success when he complained about the lack of progress here.

Hon. Dr. Tolmie is reported as having suggested that what is required in this Province is an industrial and agricultural survey. From time to time, according to press reports, the Doctor suggests that neither agriculturally nor industrially are we proceeding as fast as we should.

FACTS IGNORED

"I am afraid that the Doctor's jeremiads hardly fit in with actual conditions. I would point out that over a period of years a vast amount of information has been obtained in the various fields of industrial and agricultural activity, and as a direct consequence thereof, development in the Province has been greatly accelerated. every field of endeavor, including agriculture, has doubled in production during the last ten years, and in some instances quadrupled. It is true that the Province imports some agricultural products for home consumption. A large portion of the imports consists of articles not grown here, and seasonal products.

"British Columbia is very far from having reached the zenith of its development possibilities. In stock-raising, general agricultural and industrial endeavor, there is an enormous field yet to be developed, and there is room for millions more people. Centuries of effort will not exhaust British Columbia's possibilities. Nevertheless development is going on at a most gratifying rate.

FOREIGN TRADE NEEDED

"The Doctor also frequently enjoins the people to 'keep your dollar at home and get another chance at it.' It is not easy to prove that the trade which has been taking place with other countries has not been beneficial. Complaints have recently come from Australia that under the new Australian treaty, Canada has the best of the bargain.

"Recently the Province of Ontario has announced that only Ontario timber will be allowed on Ontario Government buildings. British Columbia buys a lot of Ontario manufactured goods. Suppose that British Columbia starts a policy of retaliation and refuses to buy Ontario goods; would that be a good thing for the country?

"Every nation to-day is trying to become as self-sustaining as possible, but in my opinion, it is very far from good business to be constantly shouting from the house tops that we are only going to buy home products, and that we are not going to buy from anybody else.

MUST BE BROAD

"The world is small to-day; news travels quickly. We are spending time and money endeavoring to cultivate foreign markets. While endeavoring to educate the world to buy our goods on the one hand, are we to tell them, on the other hand, that we have no intention of buying from them?

"We must be big enough to think internationally and get away from small parochialism. We must do business with the world, and not merely 'swap jack-knives' between ourselves. Appeals to the small prejudices of our own people will not build up this country. We must cultivate friendly trade relationships with all nations, persuading them that it is good business for them to buy our products, and not hesitating to buy from other countries where they can supply what we need upon a fair basis.

LOSS OF POPULATION

"It is all very well for Dr. Tolmie to constantly reiterate that we are losing too many of our young people to the United States. Dr. Tolmie was, at one time, Minister of Agriculture in the Borden-Meighen Administration. He had splendid opportunity to put his theories to the test. Nevertheless, during ten years of Borden-Meighen Administration, 750,000 Canadians left for the United States.

"Everybody to-day knows that British Columbia is going forward by leaps and bounds, and notwithstanding the continuous, and at times frantic, effort to create discord and dissatisfaction, it would appear that the people are fairly well satisfied with an Administration during whose term of office this splendid advance has been made."

SHIPPER BRINGING CHRISTMAS LIQUOR

Furness Motorship Due To-morrow Has Nearly 2,000 Cases of Liquor Aboard

One of the first large shipments of liquor for Victoria's Christmas stock will arrive here to-morrow aboard the Furness (Pacific) motorship Pacific Shipper, which is inbound from the United Kingdom. The Shipper will probably berth at Pier 2, Rithet docks, at 7 o'clock in the morning, King Bros., local agents, announced to-day.

The Shipper has nearly 2,000 cases of liquor, consisting largely of whisky while there is a shipment of sherry wine. Her other cargo for Victoria includes preserves, stationery and general merchandise. She will discharge 135 tons before proceeding to Vancouver where she will put off over 1,000 tons of general freight.

There are four passengers aboard the Shipper for Victoria. These are the four children of the Ecuador consul at Seattle, E. Crux. They will be met here by their mother.

The Most Difficult Piano Problem Has Been Solved
In the modern apartment, where rooms are small, a full size upright piano can be so inconvenient. There has, therefore, developed a demand for a small good quality piano.
Craig, one of Canada's pioneer pianoforte builder, now fills this requirement with an instrument of remarkably beautiful proportions. It is not merely small; it is compact. It is ideal for apartment, boudoir or school—for the player can sit and look over the top to direct the pupils.

DAMAGE ACTION ON JANET SMITH CASE

Point Grey Settles Claim of Woman Owning House Used For Abduction

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—Trial of the action arising out of the abduction and incarceration of Wong Foon Sing did not proceed in Supreme Court today and indications are that the last has been heard of the case.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Amy C. Walker, claimed $3,653 compensation for damage to her house in Point Grey and depreciation of its value, occasioned, she alleged by the confinement there for forty-two days of the Chinese houseboy. He was then suspected of implication in the death of Janet Smith, but the grand jury subsequently exonerated him.

The defendants were Point Grey officials, including Reeve J. A. Paton.

Notice of discontinuance of the trial is to be filed by the plaintiff on the Point Grey defendants undertaking to make a substantial payment to Mrs Walker, according to her counsel. The cost of repairs were estimated at $653.

B.C. ELECTRIC MEN ASK $157 MINIMUM

Cost of Living Budget Presented at Conciliation Board Hearing

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—W. H. Cottrell, in summarizing the case for the men at this morning's session of the Board of Conciliation hearing into claims for higher wages by employees of the B.C. E.R. Company, stated the men desired a wage sufficient to enable them to maintain a "decent standard of living."

"We have presented a budget on the cost of living which shows that we require a minimum of $157.50 per month, or a rate of 78 cents per hour. Of equal importance is our demand for two weeks' holidays with pay for employees of over one year service," he continued.

When called upon for presentation of the company's case, W. G. Murrin suggested an adjournment for the better preparation of evidence. Friday morning at 10 o'clock was accordingly set for further hearing.

COMPANY'S STATEMENT

The company in its statement to the Minister, prior to the appointment of the board, gave as its reasons for resisting the claims of its employees that it was already paying the highest wages of any street railway company in the Dominion; that the cost of living in Victoria and Vancouver was less than in many parts of the country; that there was no material change in local conditions to warrant a revision of the agreement which expired on September 1 in an upward direction in favor of the men; that the company was not making an adequate return on the investment; that working conditions of the company's employees were equal to or better than those of similar companies elsewhere, and finally, that there are a number of clauses in the expired agreement which the company is unwilling to renew, on the grounds that they are unfair to the company.

CONTEMPT ACTION ON LOG RAFT PATENTS

Davis Company Seeks to Commit Victoria Men to Jail

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—For alleged breach of Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald's injunction, which enjoined William E. Cathels and Charles Sorenson of Victoria from use of Davis log raft patents company's patent for construction of Davis Rafts, an application was made in Supreme Court on behalf of the company to commit the defendants to jail for contempt of court. The application was heard by Mr. Justice Murphy who granted an adjournment for a week with permission to the parties to cross-examine on affidavit. George Clark appeared for defendants; and Clarence Darling and R. J. G. Richards for plaintiff company.

JUDGE REFUSES WRIT AGAINST REGISTRAR

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—By judgment of Mr. Justice Morrison in Supreme Court an application has been refused for a writ of mandamus against the Registrar of Companies at Victoria.

The application was made by E. R. Sugarman on behalf of Pioneer Savings and Loan Society, which sought a certificate under the Savings and Loan Association Act, 1927, entitling it to carry on business throughout the Province. The Registrar had proposed to restrict its business to two counties.

Mr. Sugarman says that the judgment will be appealed.

U.S. FOREST FIRES COST 27 MILLIONS

Washington, Sept. 28.—Forest fires in the United States last year caused more than $26,900,000 damage, according to the Agriculture Departments.

There were 91,793 fires. More than 72 per cent. of the fires were caused by man and 12 per cent. by lightning. No cause was obtainable for 15 per cent. of those reported.

Mississippi, with 23,170 fires, suffered more than any other state, while Alabama was next with 14,953, and Georgia third with 6,448.

Southeastern states as a group — North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi, had more forest fires than any other section last year with 54,200 conflagrations reported.

Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas came enxt with 10,657 fires, the northeastern states had 6,351, the Appalachian states 4,287, the east Mississippi state 1,747 and Lake states 3,326, the Rocky Mountain states 3,877 and Pacific states 6,842.

Inheriting Old Age

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

It is now realized that the members of some families live longer in general than do those of others.

A person does not inherit, however, any particular tendency to old age. What he does inherit is a type of body or a constitution which enables him to survive better than does the average man the attacks of infectious organisms and the multitudinous assaults on the tissues made by bad living habits.

Raymond Pearl, the statistician of Johns Hopkins University School of Hygiene, found that almost invariably persons whose parents died past the age of 80 would themselves live on an average more than twenty years longer than the average for the community.

In a series of more than 1500 cases in which the age at death was known of both the individuals and of their parents, it was found that 5.3 per cent lived to the age of 80 when neither parent reached that; 9.8 per cent lived to 80 when one parent reached that age, and 20.6 per cent lived to 80 when both parents reached that age.

Dr. H. W. Dingman has analyzed the available statistics provided by insurance companies and other organizations relative to this point. Unfortunately family records are disappointing, since insurance records contain many misstatements.

He calls attention to amost interesting observation having to do with the question as to the longevity of the first-born. Actually first-born children show a higher mortality than do their brothers and sisters, the rate being 82.2 per cent of deaths in the first year per 1000 living births, but only 70 per cent of deaths in the first year of second and third-born children. Apparently the lessons of the first child-birth benefit the subsequent children.

One of the chief factors affecting longevity is poverty in infancy. The records show invariably that the children of the poor die to a greater extent and earlier than do those of the rich. Because of poverty, the former is frequently poorly nourished in the period before the child is born and this makes it difficult for the child to get an adequate start in life.

Divers Find First Gold Coin in Hunt For Sunken Wealth

Sebastopol, Crimea, Sept. 28 —It is reported here that Japanese divers, who were searching for half a million sterling in gold ($2,500,000) aboard the British cruiser Black Prince, have discovered the first gold coin. The coin bears the inscription of George IV. and the date 1821.

The coin was discovered after twenty tons of stone had been removed from the cruiser, which was wrecked in Balaklava Bay during the Crimea war.

The contract for the salvaging of the gold was let by the Soviet authorities on June 20 to the Japanese company, Sinkai Kogiosio Limited.

New Machine Promises More and Cheaper Tobacco

This apparatus is said to speed up transplanting and cultivation of tobacco

More and cheaper cigarettes, in spite of the fact that annual production of this "pony" size smoke may pass the hundred billion mark before the end of the year, are assured by new developments in machinery for transplanting tobocco by check row, according to the research department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers.

The man labor cost of tobacco production has heretofore been a serious obstacle to "mass production" in tobacco farming areas, according to Prof. C. E. Seitz of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and member of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

An acre of burley tobacco yielding from 800 to 1,000 pounds requires, for growing, preparing for market and marketing, from 350 to 400 hours of labor. An acre of bright tobacco, the principal cigarette type as grown in south-central Virginia and yielding 600 to 700 pounds, requires about 400 to 500 hours of labor.

The elimination of hand work in both transplanting and cultivation materially cuts the cost and increases the acreage handled by each farmer.

The first successful check row transplanting of tobacco was done in Lancaster County, Pa., last Spring, when the new machine was given on official test.

The Metropolitan mid-week prayer meeting will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Gladstone. A choir will be present to lead the singing.

The Sign of Hope

THIS is a message of Hope—an assurance of better health—for the weak, ill-nourished person who stands in peril of Tuberculosis.

Are you willing for your own sake, or the sake of someone very dear to you, to follow these simple suggestions?

To Avoid Tuberculosis

Recognize that Tuberculosis is preventable and curable, if combative measures are taken early.

That patent medicines and "quick cures" not only do no good but actually delay the real cure.

That a qualified physician can quickly detect Tuberculosis and prescribe treatment which may check the disease at the very start.

That Tuberculosis of the lungs is in reality a grim battle between hordes of germs and the protecting hosts of living cells which form the lining of the lungs. A healthy person can win the contest—in fact he is winning it every hour.

That you can strengthen the system to resist the disease if you live as much as possible in the sunshine, breathe fresh air, avoid overwork and eat nourishing food.

To Cure Tuberculosis

If you have a chronic cough with a failing appetite and loss of weight and notice symptoms which you do not understand, go at once to your family physician, and get his opinion. At this stage of the disease the greatest danger is the danger of delay.

Change of climate is not always necessary. In the hospitals for treating Tuberculosis hundreds of people are cured each year or have their lives greatly prolonged. They receive proper medical treatment, plenty of rest in the pure air and learn how to build up their system to combat the disease. For the same attention, you will have to pay no more than you can afford.

Don't leave your health to chance. Let a doctor examine your physical condition at least once a year. Better health, longer life, greater happiness, a more whole-souled joy in living will be your rewards.

RECLAMATION PLAN GETS ENDORSATION

Ultimately More Areas Will Be Needed to Support Population, They Say

Seattle, Sept. 28—The Columbia basin reclamation project received the definite indorsement of the Investment Bankers' Association of America.

In adopting the report of the irrigation securities committee, the 600 investment bankers attending the convention ratified the action of the organization's board of governors, which had previously passed a resolution specifically endorsing the reclamation project.

The committee report, which was unanimous, said:

"Notwithstanding the fact that there is a surplus of tillable areas at the present time, and several years will elapse before the increased demand for food products will make profitable the cultivation of areas already available, the committee views with approval the comprehensive programme of the Federal Government and the several western states looking to ultimate reclamation of large areas whose agricultural products will be necessary for the support of the population of the United States, increasing at the rate of 2,000,000 a year.

"The committee particularly indorses in principle the Columbia basin project whose development means so much to the Pacific Northwest."

Calling attention to the fact that there are large areas in the United States whose future depends wholly upon irrigation, the committee endorsed the principle of irrigation as being "as sound as any other phase of agricultural development."

"In the opinion," the report read, "the law governing the issuance of securities by political sub-divisions for the purpose of irrigation are in the main wisely drafted and provide reasonable protection for the investor."

Colonization was held by the committee to be an outstanding factor in determining the advisability of an untried reclamation project.

"Your committee believes," the report concludes, "that the financing of irrigation projects is a proper and legitimate function for the members of the association, but as the financing of an untried district is at best a construction loan, more than ordinary care and caution should be exercised in analyzing the physical conditions in the project, and in making an economic survey of general conditions surrounding."

The irrigation committee report was one of five presented to the organization at its first business session. In addition to the committee reports, the 600 delegates heard the annual address of Pliny Jewell of Boston, the retiring president, and welcome speeches by Joel E. Ferris of Spokane and Mayor Bertha K. Landis of Seattle.

Moth's 15,000 Eyes Are Said to Cause All Its Foolishness

New York, Sept. 27 — Here's some good news and it's a pleasure to tell it. We've been all wrong, using the moth as a simile for a brainless fool; he's got a perfectly good alibi, and we might have known it long ago except that burnt moths have so little to say. The trouble is with their eyes.

The Lepidopters, which includes all the moths and butterflies, instead of having simple or single shot eyes like ours, have compound or multiple eyes, some of them with as many as 15,000 of 16,000 separate subdivisions or facets. We knew this all along but kept on blaming the moth for the way he acted around a lighted candle. Maybe we had better not inquire too closely who was foolish.

And here's the why of it. With several thousand eyes, for that's what they amount to a moth gets several thousand separate images of whatever candle flame he happens to see. Now when Alex Haycutter takes his first trip to Broadway and Forty-second Street, or to the Great White Way, or any haunt of the sophisticated, what does he see? A whole lot fewer bright lights than a country-raised moth with his first candle. And does Alex beat it immediately for home and mother? Not while the roll lasts. Nor do we blame him much; the lights look pretty good.

So we might as well realize that when young Horace B. Moth comes flying along in the dusk in range of a candle he doesn't see just one little child-size flame, but a grand array of lights compared to which the battle of Verdun in fireworks on Uncle Sam's birthday is a third or fourth-rate show.

Aunt Sarah, 100, Was Always Foe of Pure Fresh Air

Sparta, Wis., Sept. 27—One can live to be a hundred without paying much attention to hese modern "fresh-air notions," declares Mrs. Sarah J. Irwin, who celebrated her hundredth birthday anniversary at the Morrow Memorial Home for the Aged here recently. She has slept with her bedroom windows closed all her life.

"Aunt Sarah," as the old lady is called, reads without glasses and follows carefully the events of the day in the newspapers, even taking considerable interest in sports. "Commonsense living" is her prescription for longevity. She always has eaten anything she wanted to, she says, declaring it "doesn't matter so much what one eats so long as one doesn't eat too much."

A native of Orange County, N. Y., she came West with her husband in 1866. Mr. Irwin died in 1901, but Aunt Sarah continued to keep house until she was ninety-three, coming to the home here seven years ago. Thrift is one of the greatest of virtues, the old lady believes, and always has practiced it scrupulously.

APPROVES WIFE BEATING

Atlantic City, N.J., Sept. 28.—"A good wife should be willing to accept a beating occasionally if her husband has good cause for the action." So said County Judge Smathers as he reserved decision in the case of John Aarons, who beat his wife because she had not dressed in time to go to a band concert.

Picturesque Figure of Old West Dead

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28. — Frank M. Canton, seventy-six years old, former adjutant-general of Oklahoma and picturesque character of the old West, died at his home at Edmond, Okla., near here, late yesterday.

It was from Canton that Rex Beach drew the central character in "The Spoilers" and he was the character Owen Wister depicted in "The Virginian."

TEXAS WOMAN HELD AS BANK ROBBER

Former Popular University Student Also Faces Arson Charge

Georgetown, Texas, Sept. 28.—Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers, former popular student at the University of Texas, and accused bank robber, was identified in court here to-day in her trial on a charge of arson as the young woman who appeared in a chain of circumstances, surrounding the burning of a house in Round Rock, Texas, last December.

The state is seeking to show by circumstantial evidence, that Mrs. Rogers burned the house, hoping that employees of the bank at Round Rock would desert their posts and leave her free to rob the bank. No attempt at robbery was made, however.

POSED AS REPORTER

Mrs. Rogers is alleged to have held up a bank at Buda, Texas, and obtain $1,000 the day following the fire in Round Rock and she faces trial later on this charge.

State witnesses to-day testified that Mrs. Rogers was the woman who introduced herself in Round Rock before the fire as Grace Lofton and represented herself as a reporter for The Waco Times-Herald.

The testimony of the state witnesses was contradicted at several material points, however, by Mrs. Grace Bradley, the defendant's mother, who testified her daughter was in Austin on the afternoon in question.

WHEEL CHAIR FOR DOG

Salisbury, Mo., Sept. 28.—It's usualy a tough break for a dog to be struck by an automobile and have its hind legs paralyzed. Not so a dog here that gets around almost as well as ever. His master improvised a cart from a doll buggy and strapped it to the dog's body, his front feet being used for locomotion.

NEW PULP AND PAPER PLANT IN ONTARIO

Will Eventually Bring $2,500,000 Payroll to Kapuskasing

Kapuskasing, Ont., Sept. 28.—Marking the consummation of long standing plans for the development of this region, Premier G. H. Ferguson of Ontario yesterday afternoon laid the corner stone of the 550-ton paper mill of the Spruce Falls Pulp & Paper Company. Officials of the company and citizens of the town witnessed the ceremony.

The mill, largest of its kind in the province, will be completed about next July, according to F. J. Sensennbrenner, president, speaking at a banquet in the evening. He declared the industry would eventually result in an annual payroll of $2,500,000.

Dr. J. H. Findley, editor of The New York Times, representing Adolph Ochs, remarked that if it were possible to put a water mark on every roll of Canadian paper, the words "made in Canada would be found in every home in the United States.

Miners' Families Face Eviction In Philadelphia

Pittsburgh, Sept. 28.—P. T. Fagan, district president of the United Mine Workers, said to-day that the Republic Iron & Steel Company was evicting some 250 miners' families from company houses at Russelltton, near here, after the miners refused to return to work on a non-union scale. The evictions, according to Fagan, followed a ten-day notice for the miners to go to work, non-union or move.

Blue Grouse Scarce While Deer Appear Fairly Plentiful

Early Rains Drove Birds Up Into Mountains; Pheasants Also Reported Scarce

Plenty of Quail About For Hunters When Season Opens on November 1

Although birds were reported plentiful at the opening of the present hunting season, hunters are finding it extremely difficult to obtain their bag limits. Local sportsmen, questioned this morning regarding the reasons, stated the early rains experienced in Victoria and vicinity just before the opening of the season on September 15, drove the blue grouse up into the mountains, where they are hard to find.

There are plenty of berries this year to supply feed for the blues, but still they are hard to locate. Reports reaching the city from Up-island points state birds are very plentiful around Merville, Comox and Courtenay, and several hunters have already shot their limit for the season.

DEER PLENTIFUL

Deer are plentiful in all districts, although on account of the dryness of the woods have been difficult to track. The heavy fall of rain yesterday will help the deer-hunting. Large bucks have been shot all over the Island, with many coming from Cowichan Lake, Sooke and Highland districts.

FEW PHEASANTS

Pheasants, which come into season on October 15, are reported scarce in the Saanich districts, while quail, which become lawful game on November 1, are plentiful all over. Last year pheasants were very scarce and the same conditions seem to prevail this season. Large coveys of quail are now being flushed, and they appear to be plentiful all over.

European partridges, which come into season November 15, had been reported in good number in the Saanich districts.

HORSE RACING

New York, Sept. 28.—G. D. Widener's Finite yesterday added the Babylon Handicap for two-year-olds to his list when he romped away with the purse at Aqueduct. He led home a high-class field of juveniles. Finite was well played at 6 to 1. Propus, the odds-on favorite, was knocked about in the early running, but managed to get the place, with Hogan's Alley, an added starter, third. The race was worth $5,425, and the six furlongs were run in 1.11 3-5.

Audley Farm's Faster Stockings won the Valley Station feature race at Churchill Downs. Canberka finished second, three lengths behind the winner, and Aspinwall followed in third position.

The winner took a short lead soon after the start and maintained her advantage for the rest of the trip. Canberka was well up at the beginning and moved determinedly after turning into the stretch. The five-and-one-half furlongs were run in 1.07 4-5.

The Mistletoe purse for two-year-olds at five-and-one-half furlongs was carried off at Havre de Grace by Bye and Bye. Sunchen was second and Tommy Tickle third. The winner's time was 1.07 1-5.

Devon romped home winner of the fourth race at Hathorne. Col Steward beat out Lord Julian for the place. Devon stepped the mile and seventy yards in 1.45 4-5.

Colwood Golfers To Play Annual Match For Handicap Shield

The qualifying round of eighteen holes of the Handicap Challenge Shield, which is now held by E. W. Ismay, will be played at the Colwood Golf Club on October 2. Full handicaps will be allowed and the first thirty-two will qualify for match play.

The defeated sixteen of the first round will form the first flight. The remaining players will be placed in flights of sixteen each.

The draw for the qualifying round will be made on Friday, and members who have not yet entered are asked to phone the secretary at once.

Prizes will be awarded to the winner, the runner-up, medalist (net score) and to the winners of the respective flights.

The first and second rounds to be played on October 16.

Questions concerning rule during play will be referred to the match committee and their decision will be final.

Players will choose their own opponents for the qualifying round and arrange their time for starting.

Ruth and Gehrig to Hit Ball For Fans On Coast Shortly

New York, Sept. 28.—Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, the home-run twins, will continue to do their slugging act after the world series in post-season games between New York and San Francisco.

A tour including from twelve to fifteen exhibition games during October has been approved by Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, and by Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball.

Christy Walsh, manager of Babe Ruth, has telegraphed to San Francisco that Babe and Lou will be there October 22. The last game of the tour will be played October 31 or sooner, so that only a few of the fifty cities applying for dates can be accommodated.

IN ALL FIVE

Bob Meusel

Regarded as one of the greatest outfielders in the game Meusel will appear in the world's series next week for the fifth time. Meusel has been with the New York Yankees for a long time and possesses the greatest throwing arm in the big leagues. One runner nipped at the plate by a long throw from the outfield by Meusel said "Meusel strikes from the outfield." Meusel does not bask in all the limelight his ability should gain for him because of the hitting of his team mates, Ruth and Gehrig.

Tunney Is Better Man Than Sharkey Declares Dempsey

Gene Hits Straighter Than Sharkey and is Cleverer; Referee Against Jack

Flynn to Issue Long Statement To-day in Form of a Formal Protest

New York, Sept. 28.—Jack Dempsey came out last night with a flat denial of Gene Tunney's claim regarding final instructions from Referee Dave Barry in the championship bout at Chicago.

"I received no warning or instructions about retreating to a neutral corner in the event of a knockdown," Dempsey told newspapermen. "I feel that I lost the decision through the fault of a referee who was not favorable to me. I knocked Tunney out and I can do it again. I want another match with him and I'm going to do my best to get it."

Dempsey repeated that he would make no protest of any kind but that his manager, Leo P. Flynn, would have a statement ready to-day that would throw a new angle on last-minute developments before the fighters climbed into the ring. Flynn's statement, Dempsey declared, would be in the form of a formal protest.

STICKS WITH FLYNN

The former champion said there had been no break with Flynn.

"Leo's contract expired with the Chicago fight," Jack said. "He will handle me in my next fight, under a new contract."

Regarding Tunney's ring prowess, Dempsey had nothing but praise.

"Gene is a much better fighter than he is given credit for being. He's a better fighter than Jack Sharkey, because he hits straighter and is more clever. I don't feel that I fought as well against Tunney as I did against Sharkey, however. I just could not seem to get going. I wasn't hurt much, at least not enough so that I did not know what was going on."

The Manassa mauler said he would keep in condition, realizing that his future in the game depended entirely on his ability to keep active.

Chess Masters Play Long Time Without Reaching Decision

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 28.—The fifth game in the world championship chess match between Jose R. Capablanca of Cuba, the titleholder, and Alexander Alekhine, Russian master, was adjourned late last night after the forty-first move. Play will be resumed this evening.

O'FARRELL LOST TO CARDS IN DRIVE TO OUST PITTSBURGH

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 28.—Manager Bob O'Farrell, who suffered an injury to his hand when it was hit by a foul tip in Monday's game, will be out of the Card lineup for the three remaining games of the season.

The Cardinals are in the thick of a strenuous battle just now. They are the only club with a chance to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League championship. The injury to O'Farrell will deprive the club of its best catcher, who last year was adjudged the most valuable player in the National League.

Chicago Mayor Asks To Have Title Bouts Go Fifteen Rounds

Thompson's Proposal Meets With Approval of All Sport Leaders But One

Tunney Did Not Get His Million After All; Fistic Rulers Behind Decision

Chicago, Sept. 28. — Echoes of the Tunney-Dempsey fight began to die away here to-day, with the chief actors in the spectacle gone from the scene and the fistic rulers standing complacently behind the original decision giving Gene Tunney the fight.

Jack Dempsey's statement, when he arrived in New York, that he did not receive instructions to retreat across the ring after scoring a knockdown, brought only a brief repetition from Referee Dave Barry that such instructions were repeated to both fighters just before the battle of Soldiers' Field began last Thursday night.

PROTEST LACKING

Lacking the promised protest from Dempsey and Manager Leo P. Flynn, the Illinois State Athletic Commission issued a long official statement detailing the commission's rule on knockdowns and sustaining the officials of the fight.

The size of the crowd, at first officially reported by the internal revenue bureau as totaling 102,450 paid admissions, was put back at the original figure of 145,000 by Mrs. Mabel Reinecke, collector of internal revenue here, after a final checkup. It also was announced that Tunney's purse was $990,000 and Dempsey's $437,500, both a reduction from the figures they would have received from Rickard's hoped-for $3,000,000 gate.

The official receipts were $2,650,550.

WANT TO LENGTHEN BOUTS

Sports leaders here were almost unanimous to-day in support of the boxing law amendment proposed by Mayor Thompson to lengthen championship bouts to fifteen rounds. The outstanding exception was promoter James Mullen, who said he would rather see ten rounds of action than twelve rounds of slow fighting, finished up by three rounds of real battling.

New York, Sept. 28.—The crisis Gene Tunney expected to face sooner or later in his ring career—coming up from the floor dazed and wobbly at the count of nine—taught the heavyweight champion something new about psychology.

On his home-coming yesterday from the Soldiers' Field battleground Gene told how for half a dozen years he had planned to meet the situation that confronted him when Jack Dempsey crashed him to the floor in the seventh round of the spectacle on the Chicago lake front.

Outside Forty-second street, a mob more than 1,000 fans yelled for a sight of the champion who rose from the resin to pound Dempsey into submission for the second time. They had met Tunney as he came into Grand Central Station from Cleveland, rushed the guards, closed in to shake his hand, and had pursued the big marine through an underground passage to a hotel lobby and thence to the front of Manager Billy Gibson's office. They wanted a speech.

FULL OF PSYCHOLOGY

Unmindful of the racket outside, Gene sat on the top of the same desk in the same position in which he greeted friends and scribes after stripping Dempsey of the title at Philadelphia last Fall. His mind was full of psychology and the reaction he had planned for the crisis—a reaction that never came.

"Ever since I entered the professional ring in 1919 I have known that sooner or later I must be knocked down," he said. "I also knew that when that happened, I must get up, come on and win my fight despite the handicap.

"I had worked out two lines of action. The first was to get up and camouflage my real condition by letting go a right hand punch with everything behind it—including a prayer that it landed. The second was to get up and dive into a clinch holding on desperately, no matter how the referee tried to break us, and if necessary to go down again for another nine count from whatever punch came next. If my head then was not clear, I planned to take still another count, and so on, until I regained my senses.

MADE A DIFFERENCE

"But when I actually found myself down I realized my plans were foolish. I couldn't gamble with my title. My best chance was to make Dempsey follow me and I thought he can't catch me.'

"Dempsey always has had trouble hitting a man who was going away from him. His greatest successes have been scored against men who carried the fight to him, trying to outslam the master slammer at his own game.

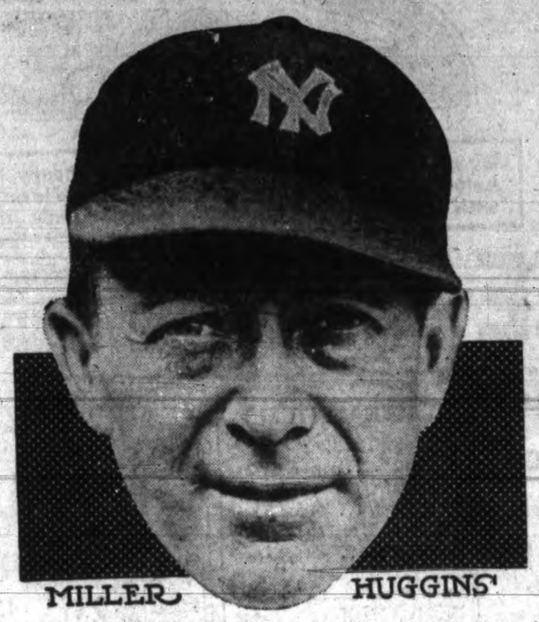

"They say that I ran away from Dempsey. You don't realize that I could have traveled twice as fast if I had wanted and if I had been just a bit more. Instead I regulated my pace, putting steam on when I thought it necessary and slowing enough to let Jack catch up whenever I thought he could come close enough for a stiff counter wallop.

"My head was clearer right then than at any moment from the time I reached Chicago three weeks earlier. All the cobwebs left in my brain by the heat at Lake Villa and the excitement of the day were swept away by that series of punches to the head in the seventh round."

Chicago, Sept. 28.—The Illinois Athletic Commission in a formal statement yesterday defended the action of the timekeepers and referee, who officiated at the Dempsey-Tunney fight, declaring that the two timers and the referee had acted in strict accordance with instructions they had received from the commission on the afternoon of the fight.

Members of the commission said they had not received the protest that Dempsey and Leo Flynn, his manager, said was being forwarded, and added that they did not expect to receive any protest.

MITE MANAGER IS VERY GOOD

MILLER HUGGINS

Although there has been a demand at various times for the scalp of Huggins he still continues to win pennants for the New York Yankees, Huggins is only a midget and weighs about 135 pounds. That is not very much when one considers the big fellows he has to handle. He has tamed Ruth, who used to cut capers, and he also has several other six-footers on his payroll. Huggins has finally made the baseball world recognize him as a real manager. This year he won his fifth pennant in the American League in eight years. That is the best average of any manager. Huggins assembled the team of sluggers which has been the fear of the American League for some time.

JACK'S HONEY GOT WRONG END TO BOUT SO GREETING ERRED

New York, Sept. 28.—Under the impression that her husband had knocked out Gene Tunney and regained his heavyweight title in Chicago, Estelle Taylor, movie actress, wife of Jack Dempsey, greeted the unsuccessful challenger with smiles and kisses when he returned to their apartment after the battle, says Jack Farrell, in The New York Daily News to-day.

Listening to the blow by blow account over the radio, the actress understood the announcer to count "eight, nine and out" over Tunney when describing the flooring of the champion in the seventh round. What the announcer said was "eight, nine and up."

At the end of the count the actress shut off the radio and proceeded to celebrate. She later greeted her husband as the victor.

"Honey, it was remarkable," she said.

"What was remarkable dear?" inquired the battle-marked challenger.

"Why, you won dear, and by a knockout."

"Hec, no, honey, I lost the fight on a decision."

Softball

To decide the championship of the "D" section of the Softball League the Hudson's Bay and Foresters will meet to-night at Central Park at 5.30 o'clock. Ernie Stock will umpire the game.

Last week these teams battled in the finals of the Peden Cup series and the lodgemen won by the odd run. This evening the Bays will seek revenge, while the Foresters hope to duplicate the feat.

The winner of to-night's game will gain possession of the Hayward Cup.

Frisch Sets Mark For Infield Work

New York, Sept. 28.—Frankie Frisch, former Giant player, now starring with the St. Louis Cardinals, is rolling up a new standard for infielders to shoot at as the 1927 campaign draws to a close.

With a total of chances accepted already exceeding more than 1,000 Frisch has wiped out the former record achieved by Larry Lajoie with Cleveland in 1908 of 988. Hughie Critz of Cincinnati had the National League record for chances accepted in a season with 945 during 1926.

French Girl Golf Star Passing Up Canadian Tourney

Rushing Back to England to Meet Joyce Wethered in Mixed Foursomes

New York, Sept. 28.—The prospect of a meeting between the two champions of British golf, Mlle. Simons Thion de La Chaume and Miss Joyce Wethered, was on the rise to-day as the eighteen-year-old French girl prepared to sail for England to defend the title she holds jointly with Roger Wethered as mixed foursome champion. Miss Wethered will pair with Cyril Tolley in the championship. Miss Wethered did not play this year in the British women's championship, which was won by the French girl.

Mlle. Chaume has foregone a chance to compete in the Canadian women's champion by her decision to return to England Saturday.

Mrs. W. G. Frazer is leaving for her home in Ottawa, Ont., and will compete for the Dominion championship, as will Miss Glenna Collett of Providence and Miss Maureen Orcutt, the New York metropolitan champion.

U.S. NOT CONSULTED

London, Sept. 28.—At a business meeting of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club at St. Andrews yesterday, Sir John Gillmore, who presided, announced that America had not been consulted regarding the fixing of a date for the 1928 open golf championship.

RUGGERS PRACTICE WHILE FLAMES EAT UP THEIR CLOTHES

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 28—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the main grandstand at the Hamilton Amateur Athletic Association here to-day. The stand had a seating capacity of 3,500 and was valued at $50,000.

Eleven houses adjoining the grounds were also damaged to the extent of $30,000.

The fire started in a dressing-room beneath the grandstand, while twenty members of the Tiger football team were out playing on the field. The players lost all their personal effects and the entire equipment of the Rugby team was a prey to the flames.

Pirates And Yanks Win Their Games By Hard Homerun Pokes

Teams Likely to Meet in World's Series Have Same Method of Winning

St. Louis Stick Close to Pittsburgh, But Giants Have Practically no Chance

New York, Sept. 28.—With the world's series scheduled to open one week from to-day, baseball fans will note with more than passing interest how the likely contenders won their games yesterday.

Pittsburgh, almost "in" as the National League representatives, clung to their two-game margin at the top of which a home run drive by George Grantham scored a runner ahead and beat out the Chicago Cubs 2-1.

Babe Ruth smashed out his fifty-seventh homer of the season in the sixth inning against Philadelphia. Bases were loaded and the four runs were more than enough to win for the New York Yankees, American League standard -bearers, 7-4.

Pittsburgh had trouble solving Hal Carlson's shoots, but the Cubs had more trouble with three Pirate pitchers—Meadows, Hill and Kremer. The Cubs were held to five hits and the Pirates made seven.

GIANTS' CHANCES WORTH LITTLE

The Giants have still a chance, experts have figured out but it is so slight that nobody is paying any attention to it.

The Cardinals remained in the running by beating Cincinnati 4-1. Alexander allowed the Reds only three hits, one of which, a triple by Critz, with none out in the sixth, was converted into a score on Hargrave's sacrifice fly. Chick Hafey hit a homer in the eighth with one on. Donohue was touched for eleven hits.

Fred Fitzsimmons turned back the Phillies yesterday and the Giants won 6-2. New York hit the ball hard, getting eighteen safe blows off Scott and Sweetland.

Ruth is now only two homers short of his 1921 record. He has three games to play yet.

Lou Gehrig slashed out his forty-sixth homer in the fourth. None was on base.

Yesterday's results were as follows:

MUST FIGHT OR LOSE CROWN

Toronto, Sept. 28.—George Fifield must defend his Canadian welterweight title against Dug Lewis in Toronto October 12 or the title will be taken from him by the Canadian Boxing Federation. The Federation has notified Fifield to this effect.

Otherwise the title will automatically pass to Lewis, who has been seeking a match with Fifield for some time.

LUCKY "DUTCH"

Dutch Reuther

Reuther started his baseball in the old Northwestern League, pitching for Vancouver. He has played with several teams since he went up to the big leagues. He was with the Washington Senators when they were in the world's series and this year he passed along to the New York Yankees and will appear with them in the world's series against either Pittsburgh or St. Louis. Reuther, although thought to have been through a couple of years ago, ranks as one of the most effective pitchers in the American League this year.

Eight Substitutes Allowed To Play In Canadian Rugby Now

Rules Changed Increasing Number by Two; Interference is Discussed

Montreal, Sept. 28.—A number of important rulings were made by the rules commissioners of the Canadian Inter-collegiate Rugby Union at a meeting held at the McGill Union over the week-end it became known here to-day. These were in the nature of interpretation in order to facilitate the work of the officials during the course of the game.

The most radical ruling had to do with the second section of rule X, the part in question reading as follows:

"If on kick from scrimmage, the ball, before crossing the line of scrimmage, strikes a player of the kicker's side who is offside, the penalty shall be the loss of one down and ten yards and if on last down loss of ball."

"If ball is recovered by defending side, however, that side shall have first down on the spot where the ball is held."

It was decided to delete the last sentence entirely.

The referee will blow the whistle immediately the player is struck and the defending team will suffer the penalties mentioned in the first paragraph.

INTERFERENCE

The question of interference was fully discussed and it was decided to leave it to the referee to decide whether a player commencing interference within the limits allowed, was continuing to interfere beyond those limits, or whether his momentum had carried him forward, causing him to fall in territory in which it first was prohibited.

A further interpretation with regard to interference is to the effect that if a play is going through one side of the line and a player of the attacking team goes beyond the interference zone on the other side, the play will not be called back.

It was decided to allow a team to use eight substitutes during a game. Last year this number could accompany the team, but not more than six were allowed to play.

British Boxer Wins

Paris, Sept. 28.—Johnny Cuthbert, featherweight champion of Great Britain, knocked out Humery, the French contender, in the fifth round of their schedule twelve-round bout here last night.

TOLEDO FANS ARE STIRRED DEEPLY AT FIRST BALL SERIES

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 28.—The first game of the little world's series here between Toledo, winners of the American Association championship, and Buffalo, the International League winners, was postponed this afternoon on account of rain. Games were scheduled here for Thursday and Friday.

Toledo, O., Sept. 28.—With the reserved seats all sold, Toledo baseball fans, in the ardor of their first winning experience, struggled for possession of 10,000 general admission and standing room tickets to the opening games to-day of the "little world's series" between Toledo, of the American Association, and Buffalo, of the International League. The reserve seat sections were sold out two days ago.

The pitchers for the first game of the series are Jess Barnes, the "mudhen" hurler, who took part in many major league campaigns, and Leo Mangum, one of the leading pitchers in the International League this season.

Bobby Jones On Golf

SPORTSMANSHIP AND GOLF

Within the past few months I have seen and read things which have caused me to think more than ever about what we call sportsmanship as applied to competition in sports. Like everyone else I suppose I am most interested in those affairs which concern myself, and, after reading in English papers that I was more intent upon winning than most British golfers, and in American papers that I was taking golf so seriously that I was spoiling the fun of it, I began to wonder if I was all wrong, and if the composure and concentration I had worked so hard to achieve were after all only qualities which we should like to see only in those who make a living out of their sport. And please don't understand me here as taking a crack at professionalism, for nobody knows better than I what glorious sportsmen professional golfers are. If you want to hear alibis and excuses don't go to the pros because they don't make them.

Recently I made a statement to one of my friends which I am willing to back with all my heart, and it was that no professional golfer ever gave a thought to any pecuniary advantage to be gained by victory in a golf tournament. These men who live, eat, and sleep golf are out to win, but if they don't they are the most generous of losers.

WHAT IS A SPORTSMAN?

And that last phrase brings me to the point of my story. What is a generous loser? What is a sportsman? Is a man a good loser or a sportsman who says: "Well, I was playing for the fun of the thing, anyway?" Isn't that taking something from the winner which he rightfully has earned. Wouldn't it be better to say: "Old man, you beat me in spite of all I could do. I congratuate you?" I do not like an ill-natured loser—no one does—but I object equally to a winner or loser who makes light of the contest. Whether he has won or whether he has lost a man owes it to his opponent to make him feel that the match has been a serious one.

Naturally, I have respected the giants of the past, and I have tried to mold my golfing technique and my attitude toward the game after the fashion of what I have known about my heroes. In America we admire above all other amateur golfers Walter Travis and Jerry Travers. From what I have heard and read of these men nothing could have been more cold and determined than their demeanor upon the golf course in an important match. Both had what I have always regarded as the ideal competitive temperament, a desire to win exceeded by nothing except a determination to play fair.

OUIMET HAS RIGHT IDEA

Francis Ouimet, one of the gentlest, kindest boys in the world, is what the Scotch call a dour golfer in championships. I have played against Francis in many important matches, and I have also been lucky enough to play with him when no one was watching and when nothing depended on the result.

And there is the difference. The friendly round to me is the place and time for levity. That is the place for camaraderie and all that sort of thing. And we can play friendly rounds fifty weeks in the year. But when we stand on the first tee in a national championship our only purpose should be to play the best golf we know. The championship is popularly supposed to be a competition to determine the best golfer and it cannot be such if every man entered is not prepared to give the best he has. To this end concentration and fixity of purpose are indispensable.

That is my code of sportsmanship which I have built on all my life, and if it is wrong I should like to know. But I must say here to every man who has beaten me in the past, and to every one who will beat me in the future, that their victories have not or will not come from want of effort on my part. If I find that I cannot concentrate on the game and work my hardest to win, I shall join the gallery and cheer for the men who have a better right than I to their place in the field.

"Wildcat" Dances Too Fast and Foley Loses Decision in Seattle

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 28.—Leslie "Wildcat" Carter, Everett lightweight, was awarded a decision in six fast rounds against Vic Foley of Vancouver, B.C., in the main event of a boxing card here last night. Carter weighed 129¼, while Foley tipped the scales at 126.

Carter showed that he had learned a lot since the Canadian veteran got the call over him in their first encounter nine months ago. Keeping out of the way of Foley's vicious left, the negro danced around landing rights and lefts to Vic's head and body. Foley evened things up with the power of his left to the face and right crosses to the body, but he was unable to keep up an even exchange with his dancing opponent. In the clinches the Canadian's best move was to tie up the Everett boy's hands, but until he did Carter played a tattoo on his solar plexus.

Dode Bercot dropped Joe Jewett of the Samoan Islands, to the mat three times to win when Jewett's seconds threw in the towel in the fourth session of a scheduled six-round bout.

Harvey Holliday, Vancouver flyweight, got the call over Zolo Obregon of Manila, in a four-round mix.

RENEW OVERTURES ON ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY PROJECT

Canada's Attitude Not Taken as Final by Washington

Washington, Sept. 28.—Overtures to Canada on the St. Lawrence waterway project will be renewed in the near future. Since the Washington Government sent its note to Canada a couple of months ago, asking what attitude Ottawa would adopt toward the development of the St. Lawrence if the United States were willing to accept the Canadian engineers' plan for a two-stage development and the Canadian reply that the whole matter was still under consideration, there have been persistent efforts by the United States in this to compel Washington to bring matters to a head, the Canadian press understands.

Canada's attitude is taken to be that the final report of the engineering board is not yet in and no definite decision is possible until it is.

Second Inquiry In Cruelty Case

Washington, Sept. 28.—Possibility of a second inquiry by the Federal Grand Jury at New York into charges that Michael J. Crowley, captain of the American tanker Manatawny, mistreated a British subject who was a member of his crew, developed yesterday with the Department of Justice, where it was said it would request further information regarding the failure of the grand jury to indict Crowley. A letter was sent to-day to United States Attorney Tuttle at New York requesting details of the case, with the expectation that they would be resubmitted to the grand jury.

The British Government has interested itself in the case, in which it was alleged that Crowley had refused medical attention to and had otherwise mistreated Frederick Thomas, an assistant steward aboard the Manatawny.

AUGUST EARNINGS OF C.N.R. SET RECORD

Gross Earnings For Last Month New High Mark; Net Earnings Increase

Montreal, Sept. 28.—An increase in net earnings by the Canadian National Railways during the month of August last is shown in the summary of revenues and expenses issued yesterday by that system.

The gross earnings are greater than those of August, 1926, which were the largest for any August since the period of amalgamation.

During August, 1927, the gross earnings amounted to $21,670,324 as compared with $21,059,374.91 in 1926, an increase in 1927 of $610,949.09 during the same period in 1926. The working expenses aggregated $17,576,025.55, which compares with $17,032,240.93 in August, 1926, an increase of $543,785.62.

The net earnings in August amount to $4,094,298.45, while in August, 1926, they were $4,027,138.98, an increase in August, 1927, of $67,164.47, equivalent to 1.7 per cent.

Working expenses again show the result of wage increases when compared with the similar periods of the preceding year, as well as the continuance of a proper maintenance programme.

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways, including the Central Vermont Railway, but excluding all lines in Canada east of Levis and Diamond Junction, for the week ended September 14, 1927, were $4,847,715, as compared with $4,891,717.39 for the same week of 1926, a decrease of $44,002.39, or one per cent.

Sale of Former Saucy Lass Is Ordered in U.S.

Los Angeles, Sept. 28—Sale of the former liquor running ship, the Hakodate, was ordered yesterday by the United States District Court. The Hakodate, formerly known as the Saucy Lass and famous as the ship on which Jack Londdon wrote some of his sea stories, was seized off the coast of Lower California several months ago by a coastguard vessel.

The Hakodate had a cargo of alcohol, which the authorities charged was destined to be smuggled into the United States.

GRAIN DELIVERIES INCREASING FAST

Winnipeg, Sept. 28—Owing to prevailing fine weather all over the West, movement of grain East and West is mounting speedily. Yesterday marketings on the Canadian Pacific lines increased by nearly half a million over the previous day's count, totaling 2,513,034 bushels, Saskatchewan leading with 1,284,906 bushels. Last year's figures for the same day were 1,065,457 bushels.

Country elevators have now 9,609,139 bushels in storage, 1,321 cars having been loaded yesterday against 790 last year. There was a movement East from Winnipeg of 669 cars, the head of the lakes reporting 569 cars delivered there, with 662 unloaded, shipment by boat being 240,000 bushels.

Westbound grain traffic from Calgary to the port of Vancouver was doubled in the last twenty-four hours, yesterday seeing fourteen cars out of the Calgary yards.

Weather probabilities are of the best.

WILBUR TAKES ISSUE ON U.S. NAVY CHARGES

Disputes Admiral's Assertion on Lack of Economy in Yards

Washington, Sept. 28.—Secretary Wilbur of the Navy Department, has taken issue with the accuracy of the charge of lack of economy in the administration of naval yards made by Rear-Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, in his recent magazine article.

Disputing the admiral's assertion that for every dollar expended for repairs in the navy, it required nearly four dollars for maintenance expenses of the yards to make the repairs, the secretary cited figures which he claims illustrated the incorrectness of this statement.

At the same time, Mr. Wilbur to disclose his views on the possibility of disciplinary action in the case against the admiral or whether in reply to his request for a naval reorganization plan the admiral had replied that he had "no full detailed plans for the reorganization of the navy and the army department."

While Secretary Wilbur found alleged errors in the admiral's views, President Coolidge was reported yesterday as believing some of the suggestions in the magazine article may be of value in increasing the efficiency of the navy. The president is said, however, to have disagreed with the naval officer's assertion that the service was over-officered.

THIS SAILOR'S BOLD ON LAND, TOO—Count Felix von Luckner, famous German sea raider now visiting this continent, took the countess over to see the lions at Gay's Lion Farm in El Monte, Calif. RULING IN CATALA CASE IS APPEALED

Union Steamship Co. Seeks Reversal of Decision of Mr. Justice Martin

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—Appeal is proceeding in the Exchequer Court of Canada before Mr. Justice A. K. MacLean, president of the court, of Union Steamships Limited, from a judgment of Mr. Justice Archer Martin, who in Admiralty Court awarded Mrs. Martha E. Dagaland $20,000 damages against the company. The award was to compensate her for the loss of her husband, Eric Dagaland, fisherman, who was run down and drowned by defendant's steamer Catala off the mouth of the Skeena River July 31, 1925.

The appeal directly involves the jurisdiction of the Workmen's Compensation Board to hear and determine claim arising out of marine casualties in British Columbia waters. Mr. Justice Martin decided against the board's jurisdiction.

E. P. Davis, K.C., and J. K. Macrae are counsel for the Catala; and W.E. Shannon for respondent, Mrs. Dagaland.

Following the Catala case the appeal will be heard of Whitefield Cook, Vancouver, from a decision of the Department of Customs forfeiting his motor vessel Ououkinish, which was seized May 12, 1926, for alleged breach of customs regulations.

The Department alleged that the Ououkinish, having obtained an outward clearance from Vancouver to Banks Island on a coastwise voyage in Canadian waters, proceeded on a "smuggling voyage." The motor vessel, it is contended, met the Nicaraguan steamer Lirio de Agua in the Straits of Juan de Fuca and guided the latter to an uninhaoited bay on the west coast of Vancouver Island at Neuchatlity, a distance of 160 miles. There, it is alleged, 1,005 cases of liquor were transferred from the larger to the smaller vessel, and the Ououkinish later returned to Vancouver, reporting inwards from Banks Island, and suppressing all mention of the expedition.

TAFT SAILS WITH CAPACITY CARGO

Dollar Liner Outbound For Orient; Missionary Returns to Post in China

With a capacity cargo in her holds and a fair passenger list, the Dollar liner President Taft, under the command of Captain K. A. Ahlin, sailed from Victoria at 6 o'clock last night for Japan, China and Philippine ports.

Among the passengers on the Taft was Rev. John C. Hawk, who is among the first Christian missionaries to return to China since that country became the scene of revolution. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hawk and their two children Jean and John. Mr. Hawk, who represents the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, declared that although the Chinese want the missionaries to return, the latter would henceforth be compelled to readjust their policies. Co-operation rather than leadership would govern the activities of the Christian workers in the future, he said.

M. Franklin Klein, publicity manager for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, was also a passenger on the Taft. To a reporter, Mr. Klein explained that a recent O.S.K. publication, "Official Guide for Shippers and Travelers to the Ports of the World" will give Victoria more widespread publicity in the point of geography than it has ever received before. More than three pages of this volume have been devoted to Victoria, including descriptive reading matter and six photographs supplied by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. The volume had cost $5,000 to prepare, he asserted, covering every seaport of importance in the world.

The Taft sailed for the Orient without one of her electricians who was called at the last moment to his home in San Francisco, where his brother had just died. This was Charles Weiman, who received a telegram from his mother relating the sad news just a few minutes before the vessel was posted to sail. Mr. Weiman is now on his way south.

Mail From White Horse to Dawson Five Hours Instead of Fourteen Days

Vancouver, Sept. 28.—The monoplane Queen of the Yukon, a sistership of Colonel Lindbergh's famous plane, arrived in Vancouver yesterday after a flight from Los Angeles which included numerous stops en route. The machine, piloted by A. D. Cruickshank, former Royal Air Force lieutenant and former member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, carried four passengers including one woman and an infant.

The machine will be shipped north to be used in air mail and passenger service to link up White Horse, Mayo, Keno, Dawson and other Yukon points during the Winter. The machine will be fitted with skis.

At the present time it takes twelve to fourteen days to carry mail between White Horse and Dawson during the Winter, and with the use of the plane this will be cut to five hours.

Ss. Grace Dollar, Disabled, Towed To San Francisco

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—In tow of the Red Stack Sea Scout, the Dollar freighter Grace Dollar arrived here early yesterday. The Grace Dollar will go on drydock here within the next few days.

E. Grant McMicken, passenger traffic manager of the Pacific Steamship Co., with headquarters in Seattle, arrived here to-day on the company's greyhound, Ss. F. Alexander. He will continue on to San Diego, but will return here in the middle of next week to line up the company's business.

An experimental shipment of 700 striped bass fingerlings were aboard the liner Tenyo Maru when the vessel sailed from here yesterday for Japan. The fish are to be placed in Japanese streams and if the experiment proves successful a shipment of 2,000 more fingerlings will soon follow.

Advices received here yesterday by the Dollar Line state that the Blue Star liner Viking Star has passed through the Panama Canal, and is now on her way up the coast. The vessel will be on berth here October 27 and load fresh fruits for South American shipment.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

Wall Street Journal's Review of To-day's Stock Market Over B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Well Street Leased Wire to The Victoria Times

New York, Sept. 28—The evening edition of the Wall Street Journal says. Market continued nervous to-day. A rather brisk recovery took place in the first two or three hours. This was marked by substantial advances in several high grade rails and by good-sized recoveries from the recent lows in the industrial leaders. But this improvement was not maintained, despite a drop from 4 to 3½ per cent. for call money selling appeared in large volume in the afternoon. General Motors and Steel quickly dropped back to the low levels of the reaction.

Aside from the expectation of substantial increase in brokers' loans due to-morrow, there was nothing outside of the market itself to account for the irregularity. Most observers attributed the afternoon heaviness of the industrial list to continuation of the process of correction, which has been in progress over the last few weeks. In face of the pressure on the industrials through the afternoon the rails maintained an improved tone. This was attributable to better showing of the August earnings in comparison with the previous month. Total net operating income of the 55 roads thus far reporting registers a decline of 916 from August, 1926, against a decrease of 27.5 in July from the corresponding month last month. C. & O. furnished leadership for the forward move in the carrier group, mounting to 204½. C. & O. traffic is benefitting from the bituminous coal strike in the union coal fields.

Texas Pacific was another strong spot in the rail list. This gain was attributed to resumption of buying by Missouri Pacific in the open market.

MONTREAL STOCKS

(By B.C. Bond Corpn. Direct Wire)

Montreal, Sept. 28.—A vigorous forward movement in values near the close was the feature of yesterday's trading on the local stock exchange. Early in the day stocks had moved in an irregular manner but with no pronounced selling pressure apparent in any section of the list. Trading was carried on in an extremely listless way, with losses again in excess of gains at the close.

Brazilian's buoyancy in the late trading under the impetus of a heavy wave buying, which carried that issue well into new high ground, attracted the greatest attention, while other leaders to record substantial advances were Consolidated Smelting, Bridge, Steel, Alcohol and Breweries.

Weak features included Canners pfd., Steel pfd., Wayaymack and Textile. Stel recorded the greatest changes, the common showing the greatest advance, closing at 184 up 7 points, while the pfd. showed the greatest loss, closing at 170, off 20 points. Canners pfd. was off 3 points, Smelters up 6½ points, Textile off 2¼, Laurentide up 2 points.

Total sales were 40,093 shares. On the curb Imperial Oil led in activity and advanced two points. Nickel was also active and strong and closed at 70½, a gain of 2¾.

To-day's Mining Markets

Two Stocks Hit New High Prices

George Copper and Silverado supplied the bullish atmosphere on the stock exchange to-day, with George selling on the exchange at a new high of 98, and then closing up with 99 bid for the stock.

Silverado jumped up another notch selling at 50 as a result of the bonanza news that is coming out of the North.

After gaining ten points yesterday, Dunwell went into another slump in Vancouver this morning and broke from 35 down to 27½, as efforts were made to unload big blocks of the stock above 30. The break to-day started on the report from the North that work was being eased off on the Ben Ali development, but there was no confirmation of this report here. An odd lot was sold on the floor of the exchange here for 33½ this morning, and the stock closed here at 32-33.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Winnipeg, Sept. 28.—Wheat market declined fractionally during first period this morning, October touching 135½, but on reports coming in that it was raining at Calgary and Southern Alberta, shorts started covering and prices were boosted fully two cents.

Northern Alberta was bright and clear as was the whole of Saskatchewan and Manitoba. The weather map this morning showed no precipitation, and the daily forecast was very favorable, notwithstanding the Winnipeg barometers have been falling for the past twenty-four hours. The local market is big affair, very nervous with the trend of values depending on the weather. Offerings to-day were very scarce, hedging sales were scarce and there was no short covering, the bears being afraid to make further short sales, and the opinion seems to prevail that some break up the weather is going to take place, and this was encouraged by a long distance forecast from Washington predicting heavy rains to-day and to-morrow in Western Canada.

Export business was again very small, and was not in evidence in the local pit. Seaboard estimated sales in all positions at 500,000 bushels and the Canadian pool were given credit of working a good business of old crop wheat to the United Kingdom. Deliveries at country elevators Tuesday were 3,327,615 bushels and the loadings out over 2,500,000 while 960 cars were inspected yesterday. Threshing is proceeding rapidly except where raining to-day, and far heavier receipts are to be anticipated which will be pressing on the market during the next two months, while Winnipeg prices are higher than any other market.

Barring an unfavorable turn in the weather, we fail to see anything bullish in the situation and believe wheat should be sold on all upturns. The cash demand to-day was very ordinary and spreads were somewhat easier. Winnipeg futures closed at 1⅛ to 1⅝ up, the main strength being in the nearby futures.

Coarse grains—These markets were all firm and somewhat higher to-day, largely in sympathy with the strength in wheat. There was just a fair demand for barley and rye from consumptive channels, and the country buying of oats. Barley and rye are moving freely, but receipts of oats continues very light. Oats closed from ⅛ to 1c up, barley ⅛ to ½ up and rye ⅛ to ⅜ up.

Flax—This market followed the trend of other commodities, although trade volume was very light and no particular demand. Closing figures were ¾ to 1½ up.

CHICAGO GRAIN

(By B.C. Bond Corpn. Direct Pit Wire)

Chicago, Sept 28.—Wheat was strong, locals were buyers, some of it being against sales of corn and there was short covering on a large scale. The resistance of the markets in the face of bearish news and northwest hedging inspired new investment support and rallies from the dips were rapid and convincing. Reports from Canada were less cheerful as to the threshing returns and portions of Alberta were having unexpected rains. Export demand was placed at 500,000 bushels by the seaboard but no export business was heard of in the northwest. Cash demand in the northwest, however, was somewhat better and premiums on red Winter wheat hardened in our market.

CORN—An early break in corn over the higher temperatures throughout the corn belt resulted in an oversold condition early and a recovery of all losses. Buying failed to follow the rally, however, and the market weakened in the late trading with closing prices somewhat under the opening. The Government weekly report was construed as bearish as much of the crop was reported safe from frost. A good demand was reported with receivers after supplies to fill contracts and Indianapolis was bidding. Corn appears to be a trading market for the present but would avoid pressing sales on the declines.

Oats—Liberal buying by locals, short covering and widespread inquiries for the cash article resulted in a sharply higher market. Advices from sections of Ohio and Indiana say receipts running about ten per cent. of volume at this time a year ago. Still believe oats are a purchase.

New York, Sept. 28.—The early rallies attracted Liberal selling, despite the easier trend of money rates, and the market worked lower. In the late afternoon selling increased in volume, and as a result the day's low levels were established.

Carloadings were well over a million as reported to-day, and for a time accounted for firmness of rail shares. Later they trended with the general market. Motor shares were in supply, minor setbacks in oils reflecting the increased production reported both from the Seminole area and the domestic total. Coppers were less prominent as a result of the softer tone of the red metal market.

The Iron Age report disclosed little to enthuse over, and disappointment in this respect accounted for active selling of the premier steel issues, which was the forerunner of active selling in the main body of stocks.

The market has a tired appearance, and the disposition to accept profits on long holdings appear to be increasing. A good reaction at this time would not be a surprise and would undoubtedly place the market on a firmer footing.

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd)

Leased Wire)—Whitney to-day says:

"The market is still confined within the range which has confined it for the last three weeks. Yesterday's market simply again emphasizing where the resistance level was to be found and again rebounding when that level was approximated. I remain confidently bullish and anticipate a big market and a higher one in month of October.

"Brokers' loans statement will undoubtedly show an increase, but even allowing for such as is to be expected as a result of the issuance of the new General Motors stock, I expect the increase to be so far below predictions which are now current that this may well prove to be the necessary psychological move for the resumption of the advance.

"The rail group will come into its own in month of October. Car loadings have been mounting steadily and practically without interruption since July, making excellent comparison with all previous figures with the single exception of the record figures recorded in 1926.

"There is an excellent possibility that in assuming a bearish position at the present time you will be right for forty-eight hours and wrong for a month. Talk of a gold export movement will be worth listening to some time next year. Use reactions to buy stocks and don't sell them except on rallies."

Guessing what U.S. Steel will earn in third quarter is now in order. One hears forecasts ranging from $35,000,000 to $40,000,000, most of them being between $40,000,000 and $45,000,000.

In the second quarter net earnings were $46,040,040.

OUR SERIAL STORY

"The Wife & Co."

By LYLE HAMILTON

CHAPTER XL

Brownell whistled as he turned to his wife. "I thought little Swedie's husband bought that ring!"

"She told us he did," confirmed Molly.

"A fellow came in with her," said the jeweler, "and they had a talk in the corner, and after that she did the buying—made the down payment, and signed the agreement herself. About ten minutes ago she was here and claimed the ring was gone."

"Poor kid!" Brownell shoved his own installment across the counter. "She'll pay up if she can—she's honest, all right."

"But she owes for everything," his wife volunteered. "She hasn't paid her furs yet, and I know she bought that new white outfit on payments, and there's the money she owes Mr. Frazier! Did she say what become of the ring?"

"She just said she lost it. She's been crying a lot, I judge—and she looks to me as if she'd had a black eye lately." The jeweler entered Bob's payment in a little book, and handed it back.

"Her husband beat her," said Molly.

"Too bad." The merchant was sympathetic. "You don't see as much nowdays as there used to be, but there's a good deal of it done. Saturday nights, usually."

He nodded goodbye, and turned to another customer. Molly shivered as she followed her husband out the door.

"I'm glad we don't belong to that class," she said. "The class where men beat their wives."

"You mean we're not rich enough, or not poor enough?" he inquired, grinning.

"Rich men don't beat their wives!" she declared.

"The heck they don't! Why there isn't a day that the papers don't tell about some society matron who got kicked downstairs and wants alimony! I think it's because rich people have more time to spend like that."

"Spend like what?"

"Wife beating. And if it isn't the husband who beats the wife, then it's the wife that crowns the husband with a decanter. Honest, I'm almost afraid to get rich, Molly."

His wife's mind, however, had strayed from the question of wife beating. She was walking with her head bent, and her gloved fingers touching her chin.

"Bob," said she, "Swedie's husband has that ring!" She seized his arm. "She had it before he ran away, and she didn't have it the night she was at our house!"

"How do you know she didn't?"

"She kept it in her vanity bag, you know. Well, she left the bag on the front room table. No girl would leave her engagement ring loose like that—not when it's new. The ring was gone, then! That fellow's got it." Her eyes were bright with pleasure at her own astuteness. "Isn't it remarkable, Bobsie, how a person can think things out?"

They were passing a motion picture theatre, and Brownell lingered to look at the posters that stood around the ticket booth. "Here's a good show—cowboys," he said.

"I hate cowboy shows," said Molly. "Anyhow, we're going to see Mary Holmquist. She'll be at Mrs. Potter's by this time."

He regarded her, gravely. "I thought you considered little Swedie a dangerous person," said he.

"What in the world are you talking about?" She returned his stare. "If you haven't got any sympathy for Mary, I have. Why, Bob, Mr. Frazier went clear to Somerville to help her, and you're really her boss now, you know. I should think you'd want to go and inquire about the ring, so we can help her."

He tucked her arm under his arm, and turned back into the hurrying line of traffic. "And I suppose you want to find out whether your guess about the ring was correct," he commented.

Certainly I do. Let's go get the roadster—we may have to run around some more places."

Bob had stored his machine in a downtown garage, not far from the theatre where they had paused. It took only a few minutes to get the car, and with Bob at the wheel they started along the back streets toward Mrs. Potter's.

When, finally, they swung the corner at the little delicatessen shop, the familiar front door came in view—the one where Molly had said good-night to Bob so often in months gone by. At the curb was an automobile.

"That's Frazier's car!" exclaimed Brownell, slowing down.

"Let's hurry," cried Molly. "If Frazier's there he's heard something."

They leaped to the pavement, and while Brownell locked his gear-shift, Molly ran up the steps and gave the three long pressures upon the door-bell that called to Mrs. Potter's rooms.

The latch clicked, and they stepped inside. "Hello, Mrs. Potter!" called Molly.

There was no answer. From about, however, there came the sound of angry voices—men's voices. Molly sped up the steps, her husband following more leisurely behind.

The young wife stopped at the upper landing.

"I'd like to see you make me!" shouted a man, from Molly's old room. The voice continued with an oath. "You can't make me!"

Molly turned the corner and pushed open the door without stopping to knock.

Mrs. Potter was standing to her left, arms folded, legs crossed, shoulders comfortably resting against the wall. Mr. Frazier was standing in the centre of the room with his hands in his pockets, smoking. Before him, on a chair against the window, was a young man—the identical young man who had called for little Swedie in a sedan, that Sunday of only a month ago—Swedie's husband!

Mary Holmquist herself was huddled on the couch, her hands clasped, her face white and drawn, watching her employer and the man whom she had married.

"Welcome to our circle!" barked the younger man, as Molly came in the door. "The more the merrier! Who in h—— are you?" He bared his white teeth to a sardonic grin, as he added: "But I can't stop to flirt with you now, cute."

Brownell's face appeared over Molly's shoulder.

"And still they come," sang out Swedie's husband. "Don't mind me. Make yourself right at home."

Mr. Frazier swung leisurely toward the Brownells, and nodded. "Hadn't expected you," said he, "but as our young friend observes, you're entirely welcome."

Mary Holmquist's arms lifted toward Molly, and fell, as if the effort was too much. Molly ran to her, and seating herself on the couch put a protecting arm around the blonde girl's shoulder.

Mrs. Potter made room for Brownell to lean against the wall beside her. "I pushed the hall button so you could get in," said she, "and then I hurried right back here. I didn't want to miss anything. It's a good show."

Swedie's husband stretched his legs straight out before him, sliding down in his chair, and hooking his thumbs into the armholes of his vest. "Never mind the ceremonies," he urged. "You don't have to introduce me, you know."

Mr. Frazier was contemplating the brightly clad young man, who gazed back with an impudent twist to his lip. Neither moved for a time. Clearly they were in some sort of a deadlock.

Mrs. Potter spoke again, to Molly and Bob. "Frazee went down to Somerville after this squirt." She indicated Mary's husband. "And where do you suppose he found him?"

"Where?" Molly asked—Mrs. Potter had paused, dramatically, while she waited for the question.

"In my own home town!"

"Do you know him?" Brownell asked.

"Thank God, no!" The landlady rubbed her nose with her knuckles, and frowned. "He won't tell his real name, either. Says he's John Smith."

"Of the well-known Smith family," chimed in the young man across the room.

Mr. Frazier moved nearer to him. "Smith," said he, "or whatever your name is, I think you'd better talk. Who was the woman?"

Swedie's husband compressed his lips and was silent.

"What woman?" Brownell whispered to Mrs. Potter, out of the corner of his mouth.

"There was some girl he had with him," explained the landlady.

The young man at the window caught the words, scowled, and then suddenly laughed.

"Oh, well," he said, rising and pulling his coat together in front. "There's no harm spilling the news, I guess." He bowed to Mary Holmquist and to Mr. Frazier, a crinkle of amusement at the corners of his bright black eyes. "The lady you refer to," said he, "was also my wife. I like a bit of variety, you see!"

CHAPTER XLI

Mary Holmquist's face went deathly white.

Her eyes—curiously dark beneath her golden mop of hair—widened, and then grew blank. She slowly wilted against Mary's shoulder and her head dropped to her breast.

"She's fainted!" exclaimed Brownell.

Mrs. Potter ran to the bathroom, and came back with a wet towel and a bottle of smelling salts. Little Swedie's husband watched with quiet interest while Molly and the landlady brought the blonde girl back to consciousness. Mr. Frazier did not take his eyes from the young man.

"Smith," he said, when a sob from Mary gave notice that she was coming to, "you're a scoundrel."

The younger man was standing before him, twisting his small mustache. There was a moment's silence before Mr. Frazier went on.

"You can be put in the penitentiary, you know."

"Yes?" said Swedie's husband. "And who's going to do it?" He laughed as he motioned toward the unhappy girl who lay in Molly Brownell's arms. "She won't testify against me. And my other wife won't."

Mary Holmquist's lips twitched. "His—other—wife!" she said, feebly. "His—" her voice became almost inaudible—"wife!"

The husband took his chair again, and crossed his knees. "That kind of girl," he said, conversationally, "they're born sweethearts. They'll never do anything to hurt a man. They take what you give 'em—a sock in the nose or a diamond ring. Now——"

He was interrupted by Brownell. The referance to diamonds had recalled the story that the jeweler had told.

"This skunk's got little Swedie's ring," he said, loudly, "and she's stuck for the payments on it."

The young man started. "Did she tell you I had it?"

"No—oh no!" moaned Mary Holmquist from the couch.

"She didn't," said Brownell. Mr. Frazier was listening with alert interest. "The jeweler told me."

"Where's that ring?" demanded Bob's employer.

LETTER GOLF

PAR FOR THIS ONE IS FIVE

It's no trick at all, with the delicatessen handy, to get up a meal, but to cook one is different. Par for the hole is five strokes. The answer is printed on page 19.

C	O	O	K
M	E	A	L

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change cow to hen, in three strokes, cow, how, hew, hen.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

Laughter Does Not Denote Happiness, Psychologist Says

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 28. — Men and women laugh because they are happy or amused. This, at least, has been the universal theory; but a London psychologist comes forward with the self-contradictory theory that the really happy man never laughs and that the unhappy man cannot laugh.

According to this authority, the laugh is a hideous grimace, the smile alone being beautiful and permissible. It all depends upon who does the laughing, whether it is beautiful or comparable to the snarl of the hyena. Perhaps it is because we are so used to laughter, thanks be unto infinite wisdom, that these dicta will strike most of us as the twaddle of a seeker for notoriety.

It is true that there are all sorts of laughter, some of it unpleasant and some aroused by a sense of the ludicrous, but in its more welcome sense the word betokens harmless merriment and a reflection of the charm and beauty of living.

An easy buyer is usually a poor payer.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Acorn Necklace

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

"Hi, Uncle Wiggily! Please wait a minute!" called a voice back of the rabbit gentleman as he was hopping along the Woodland path near the Orange Ice Mountains one morning.

"All right; I'll wait," answered Mr. Longears sitting down on a pile of leaves. He knew there would be no danger from any of the bad chaps just then, for none of them took the trouble to be polite enough to say "please."

"This must be a friend of mine," thought Uncle Wiggily. And, surely enough, it was—Baby Bunty.

"No fair tickling now, Bunty!" exclaimed Mr. Longears as he saw the little orphan rabbit girl hopping toward him with her paws held out. "I don't want to be tickled."

"I am not going to tickle you!" laughed Bunty. "I just want to show you what I made for her birthday."

"Whose birthday?" inquired the bunny uncle.

"The Lady Mouse Teacher's," Bunty answered. "It's her birthday this afternoon, and every boy and girl in school is taking her a present. This is mine, I made it myself," and Bunty held out a piece of bark on which was fastened, with sticky pine tree gum, some soft, fluffy cotton stuff from the milkweed plant.

"Ah, very pretty, Bunty!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Is it something so the Lady Mouse Teacher can powder her nose?"

"Our nice teacher doesn't powder her nose!" declared Bunty. "This fluffy thing is a pen wiper. I made it myself. Everybody that gives the Lady Mouse a birthday present has to make it himself."

"Who said so?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"Miss Mouse," answered Bunty. "In some way she heard that each of us was going to give her a present and she tried to stop us. But we like her so much we said we must give her presents. So she said, in that case, we must not buy anything, but must make the presents ourselves. So I made mine and Jackie Bow Wow made her a paper weight out of an old bone and Jacko Kinkytail, the monkey made her a drinking cup out of half a cocoanut shell, and all things like that. So if you're going to give the Lady Mouse a present, Unkie Wig, you better hurry and make it."

"I will!" said the rabbit. "I'm glad you told me. I would no more let the birthday of Miss Mouse pass without giving her a present than I would forget to twinkle my pink nose."

So while Bunty hurried on to school with her pen wiper present, Uncle Wiggily hopped through the woods wondering what he could make for Miss Mouse, for it would not be fair for him to buy any present in the six and seven cent store, whereas everyone else made theirs.

As the rabbit gentleman was hopping beneath an oak tree, all of a sudden an acorn fell down and hit him on his pink nose.

"Ouch!" cried Mr. Longears. And when he saw the pretty brown acorn on the ground at once it gave him a thought, or idea. "I'll make Miss Mouse a necklace of acorns!" he exclaimed. There were plenty of acorns on the ground, and gathering his two paws full, Uncle Wiggily sat down on a log to make the necklace.

First he tried sticking the acorns together with gum from the pine tree, but they soon fell apart.

"The acorns should have holes in them and be strung on a cord like beads," decided Mr. Longears. He found a long, slender piece of wild honeysuckle vine that would do for a cord. But when he tried to bite holes in the acorns he found he could not.

A rabbit's teeth are broad and sharp, like a carpenter's chisel, made for gnawing, and not for piercing holes.

"I need thin, sharp, pointed teeth like Tommie Kat or Jackie Bow Wow," said Uncle Wiggily, "to make holes 'n these acorns. I guess I can't finish this necklace for Miss Mouse."

"I'll help you!" cried a voice overhead and Uncle Wiggily saw a woodpecker bird, with a long, sharp bill, just made for drilling holes.

"You're just the friend I need!" cried Mr. Longears. So the woodpecker held one acorn after another down on a log in his claws and with his beak drilled holes through them.

Soon enough acorns were drilled to make the necklace, and when the shiny brown nuts were threaded on the strand of honeysuckle there was a necklace fit for a queen.

"Did you make it all yourself, Uncle Wiggily?" squeaked the Lady Mouse Teacher as she put it around her neck.

"All but the holes—the woodpecker bird made them," said the rabbit. And it was a very happy birthday party Miss Mouse had in the Hollow Stump School that day. So if the milk pitcher doesn't give the loaf of bread a lump of sugar to make it stuck up and proud like the chocolate cake, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's fried carrots.

JACK LOCKWILL IN THE WOODS

By GILBERT PATTEN

The sight of the bear caused Darling's hair to rise, and chills ran up and down his spine. Never, perhaps, had he been more amazed and frightened. His knees shook beneath him, and a sickening sensation struck at the pit of his stomach. Uttering a choking cry of terror, he dropped his rod and backed away. His heel struck a root and he toppled backward into the water.

Willie went under, for the pool was very deep. Gasping and choking, he dragged himself out. The bear, sitting on its haunches, was eating the fish.

The shaking boy sprang toward a tree and shinned up into the lower branches. Looking down, he was horrified to see the bear at the foot of the tree.

"Get out, you ugly brute!" chattered Willie. Instead of obeying, the bear began to climb the tree. "I'm a goner!" wailed Darling, backing out on a stout limb. The bear reached the limb and faced the shuddering lad, wrinkling its nose and sniffing. Then it opened its mouth widely, showing some very wicked-looking teeth. "Help! help!" shouted the agitated boy. (To Be Continued)

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1927

This is rather an unfavorable day, according to astrologers who find malefic aspects dominant.

Early in the morning the planetary influences are stimulating and helpful, making for vigorous effort.

Constructive activities are well directed. Engineers should benefit, although delays for those interested in foreign contracts are indicated.

This is not a lucky day for beginning ocean voyages for delays are forecast. Early Autumn storms may be extraordinarily severe.

Agitation regarding oil and oil production is prognosticated. Prices for by-products, including gasoline, appear to be likely to rise, if the stars are to be believed.

Under this planetary government wily schemes of many sorts are supposed to flourish.

Both men and women may be tempted to indulge in small deceptions and decided departures from the truth, while this rule prevails.

The aspects are not auspicious for new ventures in business and it is well to be conservative in using credit.

Although great prosperity is foretold for Canada the year will develop cause for wise administration of business affairs, it is prognosticated.

The evening is read as not favorable for making new friendships and persons of opposite sex may be disappointed in first meetings.

Much misapprehension regarding public issues is presaged by the stars, which may encourage severe and unjust criticism of public men, especially candidates for office.

London astrologers are foretelling inventions that will revolutionize steamships.

Persons whose birthadte it is have the augury of rather an unimportant year in which they will, however, have much happiness in their friendships. Children born on this day probably will be strong and physically. The subjects of this sign are likely to be aggressive and able to lead.

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES — Poor Steve — By MARTIN

THE TINYMITES — By HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The camel started on its way. The Tinies heard the Arab say, "Be careful now, and hang on tight. He soon will run real fast." "All right, we will," wee Clowny said. "I'm hanging tightly to his head." And, as the camel ran along a half an hour passed.

Then Coppy said, "Well, goodness me, just sand is all that I can see. We're far away from any stores, and tiny houses, too. It seems it's getting mighty hot, but we are safe, as like as not. And, anyway, we'll have to ride. There's nothing else to do."

"Oh, let's not worry," Scouty cried. "We might as well enjoy this ride. The camel seems to know his way and we'll just go along. If we feel hot, just think of him. He surely must be right in trim. To carry all of us he surely has to be real strong."

Said Coppy, "Wonder where we'll go." And then the wind began to blow. It picked up little specks of sand and tossed them towards the skies. "Oh, my," yelled Clowny, "let's all slide right down and find some place to hide. The wind is getting terrible, and sand is in my eyes."

So, off they slid, down to the ground, and each one started looking 'round, to try and find a shelter where the bunch of them could hide. But, not a thing was near at hand. And then the worried little band saw mister camel run away, and end their desert ride.

The sand kept blowing all about. The bunch heard little Coppy shout. "How we will get out of this I cannot understand. I guess we'd better drop down low. If what I've heard is really so, to hide our faces will protect us from the burning sand."

JOHN FORD, BROTHER OF HENRY FORD, DEAD

Victim of Heart Disease on Way Home From Fordson Council Meeting

Detroit, Sept. 28.—John Ford, sixty-two, a brother of Henry Ford, died suddenly of heart disease, at Fordson, a suburb here, last night.

Mr. Ford, a real estate dealer, president of the Fordson City Council, and a member of the Michigan State Fair Board, was en route home from a council meeting when he was stricken. He left his automobile and entered a house he recently had purchased.

When he failed to reach his home, Fordson police started a search finding him dead in the house.

Besides two brothers, Henry and William Ford, he is survived by his widow and three children.

WORTHLESS CHEQUE BRINGS JAIL TERM

R. D. Merritt Sentenced to Two Months in Penitentiary By Magistrate Jay

R. D. Merritt, charged here and in Vancouver with cashing worthless cheques, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment by Magistrate Jay in the city police court this morning. His term will commence at the expiration of a three months' sentence imposed in Vancouver where he answered to three charges of securing money under false pretences and was convicted on each, the terms to run concurrently.

Merritt was arrested in Vancouver and brought here a week or more ago. Twice he was remanded. On the occasion of his last remand a new angle of the case made it necessary to send to Vancouver for a witness. Daniel H. Gordon, manager of a branch bank of the Canadian Bank of Commerce from Vancouver was the witness who appeared to-day.

He told the court that there was no account in Merritt's name in his bank at the time the defendant is alleged to have cashed his cheque. That was the case for the prosecution, C. L. Harrison said. Previous evidence to the effect that the accused cashed a worthless cheque here for $15 with a friendly Chinaman, was heard last week.

The prisoner had little to say before being sentenced.

BANKERS' VISIT TO TURN MONEY FLOW THIS WAY

INVESTMENT TRUSTS GROWING

A review of the growth of investment trusts in America was contained in a report presented before the Investment Bankers' Association of America in convention here to-day by Charles D. Dickey of Philadelphia.

Dickey asserted there were ninety-five investment trusts in America at the present time, with combined assets of about $400,000,000. He traced the growth to this form of organization for investment in this country and Great Britain, and voiced a word of caution against possible abuse of public confidence by the unscrupulous.

"The immediate problem that confronts us here in America is whether this form of investment—comparatively new to us—is going to continue to grow on sound and serviceable lines," he said, "as it has in Great Britain or, having achieved a certain amount of success, at the start, is it going to get out of hand and become a playground for not only incompetent, but dishonest promoters?

"The buoyant stock market of the last few years, together with the steady decline in interest rates, have stimulated optimism regarding the investment trusts to a point not justified. It is almost a certainty that this over-optimism will be capitalized by those who are constantly looking for an opportunity to make a quick turnover at the public's expense. With this in mind, investigations have already been initiated in New York—both by state and federal officials—and it is sincerely hoped by your committee that this prompt and timely action will go a long way to prevent the abuse to which the investment trust principle is in danger of being subjected.

"There will be instances where 'blind pools,' formed purely for speculation, are created under the guise of high-grade investments.

"There will be other cases where investment trusts are used as a dumping ground for undesirable and slow selling securities. The public—for whom we, in the I.B.A. assume a certain guardianship—must be educated and guided."

Co-operation of the I.B.A. with Government officials in checking mushroom growth and in encouraging worthy enterprises was pledged.

REALTORS ATTACK UNFAIR TAXATION

he said. He firmly believed, said Alderman Holmes, that if this were done the situation would be much improved.

THREE OBJECTIVES

"This board can agitate for a fixed maximum taxation of land, representation of the council on the school board and organize to help co-operation among land owners." These were the steps the board should take, Alderman Holmes alleged.

NEED INDEPENDENT COURT

Fred Landsberg said that an independent court of revision was one of the things required here. In the past, pleas from land owners had seldom met justice, he said.

H. Bridgman asserted that the men who sat on the court of revision could not possibly believe in the values it handed out, could not think them fair, if they were sane.

Alderman Holmes added that the board should approach the council in body to get remedy for these assessment matters. But Alderman Holmes did not defend the court of revision. Nor was he backing the assessor, he said.

"I am glad I am not the keepr of the assessor's conscience," he declared.

Mr. Leeming had other points to bring up to show how one property over-assessed carried another.

TO SEEK REMEDY

A committee was appointed to look into the fundamental problems of taxation here and report back on remedies at some future meeting. The committee was composed of the following: Ex-Alderman David Leeming, James Forman and J. C. Bridgman.

SOVIET IMPRISONS RELIEF WORKERS

Twenty-eight in Russian Armenia Arrested on Moscow Instructions

Constantinople, Sept. 28.—Twenty-eight employees of the American Near East Relief in Russian Armenia have been arrested by the Soviet authorities.

A majority of those imprisoned were teachers in American orphanages and schools, the advices received here said.

No reason for the arrests was given by the Soviet authorities except that they were acting under orders from Moscow.

It is reported here that the Soviet authorities suspected the Near Eastern Relief employees of violating the governmmental decrees which prohibit the religious teaching of children.

The action was declared in United States circles to be a flagrant violation of the provisions of the mandate under which the Near East Relief is working in Soviet Russia, and the American officers of the relief are preparing protest in order to obtain the release of their personnel.

Home Bank Trustee Sues Ontario Town

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 28.—Acting as trial judge in the case of the Home Bank Trustee suing the town of Alliston for $4,000 and interest, Charles Garrow, K.C., master of the Supreme Court, yesterday reserved judgment. The town claims that $3,880 which should be to the credit of the school building commission and $1,000 which was issued without the signature of the mayor, fully offsets all the bank's claims.

FIRST CYCLOMETER

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 21—The first cyclometer, the instrument now incorporated into the automobile speedometer to measure distances, was used by the band of Mormons who journeyed across the plains of Utah. A device was installed on a wheel of a prairie schooner that recorded the number of times the wheel revolved.

Says B.C. Mine Stock Good Speculation

The East is becoming interested in and thinks favorably of another British Columbia mine, according to the statement made in The Financial Times of Montreal on Kootenay Florence, and received here by C. L. H. Branson of Branson, Brown & Company.

The following question was asked by a subscriber:

"I have been offered by a responsible mining broker in Toronto Kootenay Florence Mining Company Limited stock at the prelisting price of 25c per share. Do you recommend a purchase of this stock at the price mentioned? Does this company pay dividends, if so, what is the rate, and what are prospects for the future, ore reserves, etc." —J. G., W.

To which The Financial Times replied:

"Regarding Kootenay Florence Mining Company, under capable management, the lake tunnel is being driven—the length of which will be 3,500 feet. Three shifts a day are working; the set-up of the enterprise looks promising, as the new company has no debts and ample working funds for the present. The above lake-level tunnel will eliminate aerial tram costs.

"In view of estimate given of ore reserves, which should be worth between $3,000,000 and $3,500,000, and the fact that a 200-ton mill is on the property, and cheap power is assured, the outlook appears bright. Evidently, the production will not be resumed until the lake-tunnel is completed.

"No dividends are being paid. A price of 25c per share is considerably above par, which is 20c per share, but the issued stock is small. The stock may be termed a good speculation."
